

De Gaulle Warns Algerian Rebels to Stop Interfering

Dulles to be Invited for Talks in July

Paris — Premier Charles de Gaulle bluntly told the defiant insurgents in Algeria today to quit interfering in government and slapped down his military commander there.

De Gaulle sent off a sharp note to his military commander in Algeria, Gen. Raoul Salan, after a cabinet meeting devoted mainly to foreign affairs.

Cabinet spokesman said one decision was to invite Secretary of State Dulles to Paris to confer with De Gaulle next month. Other sources said the talks might be broadened to include Britain and West Germany.

While these talks would concern questions of the western alliance, De Gaulle's most immediate problem was to restore his authority over the troublesome territory of Algeria.

De Gaulle replied sharply to a resolution by the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety yesterday opposing his plan for local elections in Algeria and condemning parliamentary government in France.

De Gaulle's Message
De Gaulle criticized Salan for letting his name be used as approving the committee action, even though Salan later disavowed the resolution. De Gaulle messaged Salan:

"Concerning the regrettable and intemperate incident caused by the peremptory motion of the committee of public safety in Algeria. I remind you that the committee has no other rights and no other role than to express under your control the opinion of its members.

"Regular authority, and first of all yourself, could not associate itself with such a subject as the committee or any other political organization can express or ask.

"It is necessary to make understood to interested persons that the national will which I have undertaken with my government demands calm spirits and frank and reasoned adhesion of all those who wish to aid me to save national unity, integrity and independence."

Indications of Rift
Reports from Algiers said there were signs of a rift in the 72-man committee. Some want to stick with the original purpose, which was to support De Gaulle. Others want to continue their campaign against the French parliamentary system.

De Gaulle's cabinet went ahead with plans for the local elections in Algeria in the face of the committee criticism. The cabinet heard De Gaulle's foreign minister, veteran diplomat Maurice Couve de Murville, outline the government's position on a summit conference, one of the topics to be brought up when Dulles comes to Paris to see De Gaulle.

Informed diplomatic sources said the talks might be extended to include British Prime Minister Macmillan and German Chancellor Adenauer.

Oleo Served To Senators; Wile Aghast

BY FRANCES MCKUSICK
Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

Washington — It was on again, off again, gone again margarine so far as the senate restaurant was concerned today, and Wisconsin's Sen. Wiley wasn't a bit pleased about the substitute's solo appearance, so he immediately investigated.

It seemed that at breakfast, huge slices of a yellow spread, conspicuously marked with a large M, were served in the senate dining room.

Informed of this travesty against good eating, the senator called the restaurant manager. With some embarrassment she informed Wiley that it was all a "mistake," and that it would never happen again.

A package of the substitute, she explained, had been intermingled with butter by the distributor. When the mistake was discovered, the margarine was removed and butter placed on the plates.

"I was glad to hear that butter will remain as the spread in the senate dining room," Sen. Wiley said. "But I am disturbed that the distributor made this mistake, and wonder if other distributors also will permit such accidents to happen."

GOP Outlines Session Plans

Caucus Aims at Completing Work Within 2 Days

Madison — Republican legislators, who control the assembly and senate, caucused today to set up procedure they hoped will limit a special session of the legislature opening this afternoon to a 2-day meeting.

Sen. Jess Miller, Richland Center, long a leader in the senate, said he expected rules to be adopted that would limit debate and expedite the session.

Gov. Thomson, in calling the session limited to consideration of bills involving improved unemployment benefits and changes in laws covering public relief and urban redevelopment, interim appointments by the governor that need senate ratification also can come up. The chief executive expressed hope the session could complete its work in two days. Convening time was 2 p.m.

UN Will Send Observer Team Into Lebanon

Wants to Make Sure Arab Republic Does Not Ship Arms

United Nations, N. Y. — The U. N. Security council decided today to rush an international watchdog team to strife-torn Lebanon to seal off its borders with the United Arab Republic.

A threatened Soviet veto failed to materialize. The Soviet Union simply abstained instead of killing the plan by a negative vote.

The observer group would have the mission of guaranteeing that no arms or other military aid reaches Lebanese rebels from the U. A. R.

Lebanon had complained to the 11-nation council that President Nasser was threatening Lebanese independence by meddling in its internal politics. The U. A. R. had denied the charges.

Lebanon's Problem

In a speech just before the vote, U. A. R. Delegate Omar Loutfi offered no objection to the plan to send the observer group to Lebanon. He had told newsmen earlier this was primarily a concern for Lebanon, since the group would operate only on the Lebanese side of the border.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, who was given the task of organizing and dispatching the observers, was expected to move quickly to carry out his assignment.

Chief U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge said the security council should be congratulated for taking a practical step.

"The United States is gratified," he said.

He expressed hope that Hammarskjöld would have representatives in Lebanon within 24 hours.

The secretary general replied that he already had taken preliminary steps and could have some service personnel there by tomorrow. The observers themselves, Hammarskjöld said, would have to be brought in from various parts of the world and this would take more time.

Fake Passport Ring Smashed

Washington — The government reported today an international ring engaged in altering and selling U. S. passports has been uncovered and presumably smashed.

The ring was based on Palermo, Italy, but operated in other cities. The state department announced that eight persons have been arrested in the United States and three persons abroad in connection with the investigation.

It added: "Some of the members of the ring are in flight in Europe and other users of the fake passports are being sought in the United States."

13 Killed and 49 Hurt As Tornado Hits Kansas

Flattened Homes Mark the Center of the path taken by a tornado that cut a swath 14 blocks long and a quarter of a mile wide along the southwest edge of El Dorado, Kan., late Tuesday. The Skelly Elementary school in the right background was near the center of the damaged area. About 150 homes were destroyed or damaged by the twister. Losses ran into many hundreds of thousands of dollars. (AP Wirephoto)

Fear More Bodies May Be Found

El Dorado, Kans. — A tornado devastated 40 square blocks of a modest new residential area of El Dorado late yesterday.

At least 13 persons were killed and 49 injured. Lt. Col. W. W. Goodwin of the 137th Infantry regiment of the National Guard who is in charge of the searching operations, said he feared other bodies might be found in the rubble.

The commander of the Kansas Turnpike Highway Patrol unit, Maj. Lloyd S. Vincent, said his men were unable to account for the occupants of three automobiles which the twister apparently swept off the toll highway at the northeast edge of El Dorado.

Searchers found a 13th body in the ruins today and it was identified as that of Miss Bessie Diaz, 48. She was found in the rubble of her home.

One of the cars missing from the turnpike apparently was driven by J. Gordon James of Dallas, Texas. Mrs. James was in critical condition at the El Dorado hospital. Her husband could not be located after reporting to police that he could not find two teenage daughters.

James said he parked under an overpass on the turnpike in an attempt to find refuge from the wind and heavy hail. James and his family left the car only to see it swept away by the winds. James said his daughters disappeared at about the same time.

Maj. Vincent said all he could find of the other two cars were their motors and pieces of their fenders.

Houses Disappear
Some houses utterly disappeared leaving only foundations and the concrete floor of garages. Others lost only their roofs. Some, particularly brick houses, had only broken window panes and other minor damage. In some cases a house seemed almost untouched although on either side there were total losses.

One of those who poked through the ruins of a demolished house was Mrs. Charles W. Wheeler.

Admits He Beat Wife to Death

Milwaukee — A 70-year-old suburban pharmacist told police today that he beat his sleeping wife to death with a fence post as a climax to what he called an "uncontrollable urge to kill."

Hales Corners Police Chief David Geary said that Aloysius Wiesend talked freely of the killing after he called authorities to the ranch home where the battered body of his 71-year-old wife, Olga, still lay in bed.

Geary quoted Wiesend as saying he took the short cedar post from a driveway fence during the day Tuesday. Unable to sleep, he got up at 4 a.m. today, according to his story, went to his wife's bedroom and began to beat her.

At 5 a.m. he called the Hales Corners fire department and told a dispatcher, "I just killed my wife."

Thinks Plan Could Mean End of Marine Corps

Washington — Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) told the house today the marine corps and naval aviation are not likely to survive long if President Eisenhower's defense reorganization proposals are enacted.

Vinson, veteran of 44 years in congress and chairman of the armed services committee, kicked off debate on the reorganization bill with an argument that the issue is congressional control over the armed forces.

Vinson said that without a provision for appeal to congress from an order by the secretary of defense transferring or abolishing any combatant function, it is doubtful if the marines and naval aviation "could long survive."

House Votes to Continue Trade Program for 5 Years

Defeats Efforts to Limit It To 2 Years, Restrict Authority

Official Slain In S. Carolina

Victor in State Senate Race Killed In Sheriff's Office

Bennettsville, S. C. — State Sen. Paul A. Wallace was shot fatally last night just as he learned of his re-nomination in the South Carolina Democratic primaries.

Wallace

Officers seized Marlboro County Court Clerk Henry A. Rogers who barged into the sheriff's office where the 57-year-old Wallace was sitting and started firing. Rogers, 67, was held without bond and transferred to the state penitentiary in Columbia.

Wallace's opponent for the state senate seat, William A. Rogers, no relation to the clerk, immediately announced his withdrawal from the race and urged the election of Wallace's son to the seat.

Unofficial returns gave Wallace a 2,864-2,817 vote edge. Officers said the shooting apparently had nothing to do with the election, which followed a bitter campaign. They could give no further details than that the slaying apparently resulted from a personal matter.

Wallace, who served in the state senate since 1947, was struck five times as he sat with several other men in Sheriff William Weatherly's office

Washington — The house, handing President Eisenhower a major legislative victory, today passed and sent to the senate a bill continuing the reciprocal trade program for another five years.

In doing so, it crushed any attempt to limit the program to two years and restrict the president's trade and tariff making authority, and one to send the whole thing back to a committee pigeonhole.

Final passage came on a 317-98 roll call vote. Victory for Ike
That was even more lopsided than the 234-147 teller count by which the house turned down a Democratic substitute by Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.) which would hard-core foes of the program have watered down the whole within the president's own program, and the 268-146 roll call.

The voting followed an industrial pattern rather than party lines. The protectionist forces numbered members from Pennsylvania and other eastern industrial and coal states. They were joined by a heavy southern vote largely from textile areas.

The vote represented a hard-won victory for the president in the first critical test on his program, and demands for a free hand to continue the 24-year-old reciprocal trade program another tuted the longest extension of five years beyond June 30.

White House Denies Adams Won Preferred Treatment for Goldfine

Washington — The White House said today insinuations that Bernard Goldfine got preferred treatment from federal agencies because of friendship with Sherman Adams "will be proved completely false."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the matter will be quickly disposed of when Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower, returns to Washington later in the day from a New England fishing trip.

Hagerty added that Adams "has the complete confidence of the president."

Dictates Statement
Hagerty refused to discuss evidence produced by house investigators yesterday that Goldfine, a Boston industrialist, paid almost $2,000 in hotel bills over the last four years for Adams.

Hagerty brought up the subject at a news conference. He said he anticipated questions about it, and then dictated this statement.

"After his (Adams) return, insinuations made yesterday that Mr. Goldfine received any preferred treatment from federal agencies because of his friendship with Gov. Adams will be quickly disposed of and proved completely false."

Hagerty declined to provide any information on the expected time of Adams' return, or to say what form Adams' rebuttal might take.

"You will have to wait until Gov. Adams gets back," the press secretary said.

Hagerty said in response to questions that he reached Adams by telephone last night at Berlin, N. H. He said Adams had been fishing in northern Maine.

A reporter told Hagerty that his statement did not amount to a denial that Adams' hotel bills at the Sheraton Plaza in Boston were paid by Goldfine, sent by Roger Robb, a Goldfine's attorney.

In response, Hagerty said fine attorney.

he must refuse to elaborate on the statement he had made.

Asked how Eisenhower feels about the evidence that Adams' hotel bills were paid by Goldfine, Hagerty replied:

"He feels the same as I do—that the matter will be quickly disposed of and proved to be false."

The house investigators, after developing yesterday testimony that Goldfine had paid the hotel bills, put off further inquiry until next week.

Questions Unanswered
It is trying to get access to Goldfine's records.

Still undetermined in the public record was: Whether Goldfine got favored federal treatment through close personal friendship with Adams, as alleged; or Whether Adams merely enjoyed Goldfine's hospitality as an old friend without offering any special treatment for Goldfine's troubled business enterprise. That is the picture presented by the picture taken by Goldfine's attorney.

E. Germany Promises Release of 9 Men

Red Paper Says U. S. Must Act In 'Normal and Reasonable Manner; Will Negotiate

Berlin — P.— East Germany today promised quick release of nine U.S. army men and their helicopter if the United States acts in a "normal and reasonable manner."

The statement an editorial in the East German Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland, did not specify what the communists would consider "normal and reasonable."

The conciliatory editorial, which carries the weight of an official pronouncement, appeared after Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference the United States would negotiate if necessary with the East Germans for release of the eight army officers and one sergeant whose helicopter strayed into East Germany last Saturday and ran out of gas.

No Comment

The Russian embassy in East Berlin welcomed Dulles' statement. The East German government spokesman refused to comment on Dulles' remarks. He referred reporters to the Neues Deutschland editorial.

A West Berlin newspaper reported the Czech government has turned over an East German protest note on the helicopter case to the U.S. embassy in Prague.

U.S. mission officials in West Berlin declined to comment on the reported receipt of the note and referred queries to the state department.

In Bonn, a West German government official said that dealing with the East Germans was necessary on humanitarian grounds to obtain release of the soldiers. He added his government also agrees with Dulles that such negotiations would not imply legal recognition of the East German regime.

No Recognition

Neues Deutschland reported Dulles' statement in an 80-word dispatch including his contention that such negotiations would not imply, diplomatic recognition of the satellite regime. But the editorial made no mention of the secretary's observation that the men in a sense had been kidnapped, and that you must deal with the kidnappers when people are kidnapped.

The Red newspaper conceded that the helicopter might have gotten over East Germany accidentally and said the men in the plane had behaved correctly after landing.

"But violation of the air space of the (East) German Democratic Republic remains," the editorial continued.

"Therefore the matter must be settled as is customary between civilized states. The ministry of foreign affairs of the German Democratic Republic is ready to negotiate over the further settlement of this matter."

"It has informed the United States accordingly. The United States government only has to act in a normal and reasonable manner and the incident will be cleared up quickly."

FHA Will Extend Emergency Aid to Tornado Areas

Madison — P.— The Farmers Home Administration has decided to extend emergency assistance to residents in Eau Claire, Chippewa, Dunn, St. Croix and Clark counties, raked a week ago tonight by tornadoes that killed 28 persons.

Gov. Vernon Thomson said Tuesday he had been told by Sen. Alexander Wiley that the local Farmers Home Administration offices in the devastated area were being informed of the decision and will have details in a short time.

Wiley said the agency will qualify residents for emergency loans under provisions of the Farmers Home Administration act.

Long Newspaper Strike Makes Commuters Grouchy

Philadelphia — P.— The exasperated wife who used to lose out to Yogi Berra or the financial pages at the breakfast table is fed up in reverse. She says what a relief it would be if her husband would glue himself to the newspaper again. The way it is, he's an out-and-out grouchy.

He becomes grouchy still as he joins other commuters around a barren newsstand at the station.

But if you think that is a crotchety crowd, come aboard the train.

Commuters, normally buoyed up on a sea of newspaper, are desolate. Some sleep, or pretend to. Others, though open-eyed, are frankly bored. Conversation withers. The person with no newspaper at all stares resentfully at anybody who has any kind of paper. The sight of even a foreign language paper sets the have-nots to coveting.

13-Day Strike

Thus begins the day for a great many in this densely populated region, which for the second time in recent years is feeling in numerous ways, the strain of a prolonged newspaper strike. The last one was in the spring of 1946. Delivery truck drivers were out 13 days. The present strike has been on for 13 days also.

The Teamsters union, on May 30-31 struck the Philadelphia Bulletin, Philadelphia Inquirer and neighboring Camden N. J.

Senate to Act On Bill to Aid U. S. Railroads

Features Include Relief From Taxes, Loan Guarantees

Washington — P.— The senate may act today on a far-reaching bill to help the nation's railroads through loan guarantees, tax relief and other aids.

Meeting early to take up the bill, the senate faced a possible long night session to complete action on it if possible in a single day. A bill to curb labor abuses is scheduled for action tomorrow.

Some features of the transportation measure follow administration recommendations. Others proposed by the senate commerce committee have drawn administration fire.

Recommendations

The administration recommended government guarantee of up to $700 million of loans to help the railroads obtain new plant and equipment.

The committee, in approving that, voted to permit use of up to $150 million of such loans for operating expenses and interest payments on existing obligations. It also provided that the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) supervise the program.

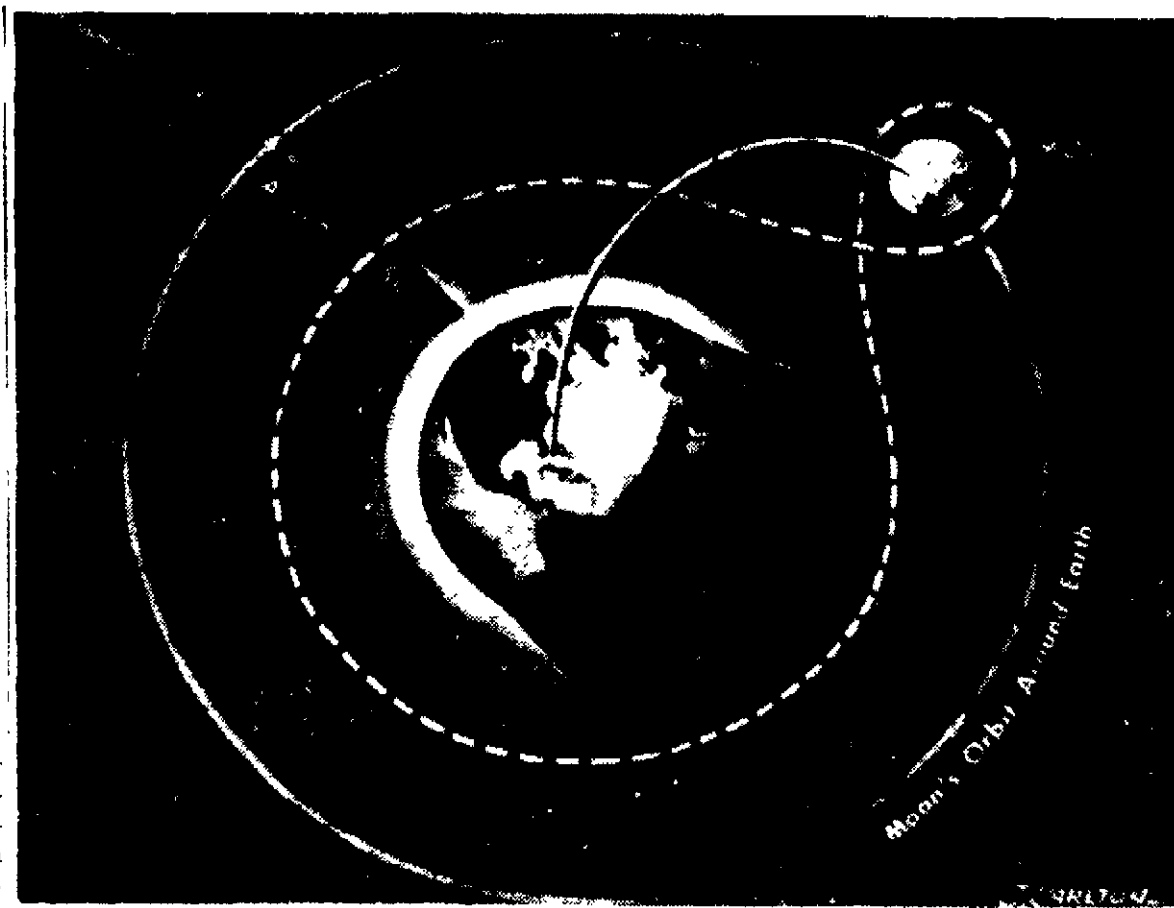

Secretary of Commerce Weeks opposed both changes. He said operating loans are not needed to keep the railroads running and contended the money might be used improperly for other purposes. He said also the program should be under the commerce department, rather than the ICC which regulates the railroads.

Construction Funds

A second provision would give permission—also opposed by Weeks—for rail, air, barge and truck carriers to establish construction reserve funds which would be exempt from income taxes up to five years if the funds are invested in the acquisition of new equipment.

A third disputed provision would prohibit the ICC from holding rates of one carrier arbitrarily high enough to protect the traffic of a competing method of transportation. The administration contends this would do nothing to promote rate competition from which the public would benefit.

Other provisions would give the ICC more authority to change intrastate rail rates and to let railroads consolidate or abandon unprofitable services.

This Drawing Depicts What Might happen when the U. S. Air Force "shoots for the moon" later this year as announced Tuesday by Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson of the re-ly search and development command. If the rocket misses the moon, it will become a satellite and might possibly orbit the moon and earth in a figure-eight course (broken line). A shoot to the moon would cover a course of 278,000 miles and take two and one-half days. (AP Wirephoto)

General Says Times Given for Moon Shots Were Only Planning Dates

Explanation Comes After Pentagon Space Boss Claims No Decision Made on Firing Attempt

Washington — P.— The chief of air force space planning says he was speaking only of planning dates in saying the air force will attempt to fire its first rocket toward the moon in August.

Lt. Gen. S. E. Anderson, director of air force research and development, told a news conference in Milwaukee yesterday that three moon shoots will be attempted this year — in August, September and October.

He was promptly challenged by the Pentagon's space boss Roy W. Johnson, director of the defense department's advanced research projects agency (ARPA). He said "No final decision has been made" on the firing dates.

Declines Comment

Anderson declined, through an aide, to comment on Johnson's statement. But on his return to Washington last night.

Action Will be Taken for Near Air Collision

St. Louis — P.— A Scott Air Force base general says disciplinary action will be taken in the case of a C47 transport plane from Scott which almost collided with an airliner Monday.

He did not elaborate.

Lt. Gen. Joseph Smith, commander of the Military Air Transport service, which has headquarters at Scott, said an instructor pilot of the military plane permitted it to be operated under simulated instrument conditions in part of the base's flying area where pilots are supposed to fly by sight.

An American airlines pilot said Monday he was in an area near Staunton, Ill., about 35 miles northeast of St. Louis when he had to dive his DC7 liner to avoid a collision. He said he was flying at about 5,000 feet with 33 persons aboard at the time.

The plane was en route to St. Louis from Chicago.

The instructor pilot of the military plane was identified as Capt. Laurence Herman, 40, of the 1405th air base group at Scott. Maj. Joseph A. Kuhn, 34, with MATS headquarters, was pilot and was being checked by Capt. Herman on an instrument proficiency flight.

Gen. Smith said MATS is looking for a less congested area in the air around Scott in which to conduct blind flying.

St. Louis is about 30 miles east of St. Louis.

he told newsmen he had explained in Milwaukee he was speaking only of a planning date.

He said relations are good between his command and Johnson's office. But he declined to answer more questions about a lunar probe.

Anderson also didn't clarify disagreement between him and Johnson whether the air force will try to hit the moon on its first try or merely come near it.

The general said in Milwaukee the air force will try to hit the moon with a modified missile designed to "give some indication of its arrival."

Try For Orbit

But Johnson said: "No attempt will be made to achieve direct contact with the moon in the projects now assigned," he added.

"There will be no attempt to make a direct impact. They will try to orbit the moon at best. At worst, they hope to get around the moon once."

As for Anderson's target dates for the proposed moon shots, Johnson said in a statement:

"We have talked about a lot of dates. Right now it's tough and go whether we can do it that early. No final decision has been made."

Anderson told the news conference that the lunar probe would be attempted with an uninstrumented 3-stage rocket, to be powered at takeoff by a modified Thor missile.

Kansas City — P.— In the 22 years of Richard Allen Stiles' life, he has been arrested 23 times.

The charges: Rape, theft, burglary and murder.

Stiles' first 22 arrests didn't result in a single conviction. But Tuesday a Jackson county (Kansas City) circuit court jury found him guilty of first degree murder.

The jury, deliberating only 45 minutes, convicted Stiles, a Negro, in the holdup slaying of taxi driver John Lumpkin, 51, last March 18.

North Carolina to Pick Democratic Nominee June 24

Columbia, S. C.—P.—A runoff election to decide the Democratic nominee for governor is scheduled June 24 between Ernest F. Hollings and Donald Russell.

The 36-year-old Hollings, a Charleston attorney now serving as lieutenant governor, ran ahead of the 52-year-old former president of the University of South Carolina in the Democratic primaries yesterday.

Third in the field was Mayor William C. Johnston of Anderson, brother of U. S. Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC). The mayor conceded defeat.

Nearly complete but unofficial returns gave Hollings 140,779 votes, Russell 118,638 and Johnston 80,280.

State law prescribes a runoff election when no candidate receives a majority of the votes.

Hollings, who lacked about 30,000 of a majority, campaigned as an experienced administrator who could attract new industry to the state.

Russell, one-time deputy of James F. Byrnes when he was World War II director of war mobilization and later secretary of state, emphasized his business and government experience.

Anderson said he would hold the line on taxes.

Party nomination is tantamount to election in this heavily Democratic state.

Schultz Urges Delay in Democratic Convention; Lucey Says 'Impossible'

Both Men Criticize Thomson for Beginning Special Session Today

By The Associated Press

Charles Schultz, president of the Wisconsin CIO, suggested Tuesday that Wisconsin Democrats delay their state convention a week, but party chairman Patrick Lucey said a postponement would be impossible.

As both men made their announcement they criticized Republican Gov. Vernon Thomson for scheduling a special session of the Wisconsin legislature beginning today.

In a letter to Lucey, Schultz said, "Gov. Thomson could easily have called the special session for this Monday. The telegrams were sent out Saturday night. He has interfered with the 2-party system by asking for a 'quickie' special session."

'Cheap Politics'

In his reply, Lucey said, "It is impossible to cancel the state convention at this late date. It is obvious to me that the governor is playing cheap politics in calling the special session at this time. He could have called it many months ago."

The state Democratic convention is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Sunday at LaCrosse. Schultz said the special session of the legislature would keep many Democratic members from attending a Friday afternoon meeting at which the platform will be written.

In announcing the call, Gov. Thomson said he hoped the meeting could be ended by Thursday night. The session will take up expanded and extended unemployment compensation, urban renewal laws and relief residency regulations.

'Weak Spots'

Schultz, of Milwaukee, added that the issues covered in the governor's call "are all right as far as they go," but "during this recession many, many weak spots in Wisconsin's social legislation have been exposed. Now is the time to attend to these."

On subjects of the call, Lucey said, "The governor could expand the call now to cope more adequately with the critical situation in which we find ourselves."

Lucey also said that Democratic senators and assemblymen have been members of subcommittees that drafted proposals for the platform and explained that in the event the session is not completed, close telephone liaison will be maintained between the platform committee and Democratic caucuses in Madison.

Calls for Cooperation

Senate Republican floorleader Robert Travis of Platteville, in a statement at Madison, called upon Democratic lawmakers to "repudiate" their leadership and cooperate in "swift passage" of bills coming up in the special session.

"It seems to be to be downright hypocrisy for the Democratic leadership in the legislature to refuse to work for passage of bills they were trying to claim credit for just yesterday," Travis said.

College Deans Face Probe In Louisiana

Committee Bent On Finding Those Favoring Integration

Baton Rouge, La.—P.— President Troy H. Middleton of Louisiana State university and five deans today faced a state legislative committee determined to uncover faculty members favoring racial integration of schools.

Under direct order of an angry house of representatives, the 10-man committee came to demand explanations why 66 LSU faculty members protested opposed segregation bills to close public schools threatened with integration.

The signatures were among 800 on a Louisiana Civil Liberties Union petition Monday opposing the eight bills. The petition failed to stop the house education committee from approving the key segregation bills, up for action this afternoon in the house.

Representatives at first directed Middleton and the college deans to appear before the full house. Members calmed down yesterday and recognized that only 10 per cent of the LSU faculty was involved on the petition.

The open probe was handed to the committee of five senators and five representatives. There was no indication whether today's session would end the investigation.

The house wants to know how far reaching LSU anti-segregation influence might be.

Sen. W. M. Ramach, chairman of the state's joint legislative segregation committee, is a member of the investigating group.

Ramach called the faculty opposition a blessing in disguise because "We wanted some of those people to show themselves."

State Democrats In Optimistic Mood

Party Has No Trouble Finding Candidates for Nominations

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — One of the measures used by party politicians to appraise their prospects at the polls is the availability of candidates for party nominations. According to that test Wisconsin Democrats can justify an optimistic mood at their state convention in LaCrosse during the weekend.

The Democratic party organization which once had extreme difficulties in attracting candidates for major and lesser places on the ticket is finding so many volunteers this year that lively contests for nominations to some offices are in prospect for September in the primary election.

Working Elements
The stature of some of the candidates is also gratifying to the party leadership.

"We're likely to have the best looking ticket in ten years," one party leader commented here today.

Although most of the working elements of the organization and most of the men now holding office as legislators and other functionaries are earnestly confident that the ticket will poll more votes this year, the two principal places on the ticket evidently will be filled without a primary contest.

Sen. William Proxmire, the short term senator who won the special election last year, would probably have had an easy road to renomination in any event. No other personality in the party could seriously entertain the hope of giving him competition for renomination to a regular term.

No Such Stature
Sen. Gaylord Nelson does not have such stature, but evidently has a clear road ahead to a nomination for the governorship without a contest also. A part of the reason is that Nelson started campaigning early—last December—and has made firm alliances with some of the principal mass vote groups that are important in party primaries, and notably the larger labor organizations.

When Party Chairman Patrick Lucey was elected last fall in a close contest, he pledged major effort to recruiting courthouse slate and legislative ticket candidates. Lucey will make a report on progress at the convention.

County Slates

A county ticket slate is a strategic necessity to an effective campaign in the precincts, but party managers have discovered to their dismay that courthouse offices are not as attractive as they were in previous eras. Even when there is a respectable chance of election, local politicians hesitate to run for the relatively low paid county government places.

Legislative recruiting has been made a good deal easier by the fact that the Republican-controlled 1957 legislature voted handsome boosts in legislative salaries and perquisites. Many Republican incumbents are now ruefully realizing that through such action they attracted Democratic challengers in their districts.

Also indicative of the optimistic consensus among Democratic politicians is the fact that Democratic candidates for congressional seats have turned out in greater number and earlier than in many other campaign years.

Library Sees Another Rise In Reading

The Appleton public library noted another circulation increase in May with daily average circulation going up to 882.5, a rise of 117.4 books over May, 1957, and total circulation increasing 1,300 to 21,181.

The figures were released by Miss Edith Rechtygl, head librarian.

A breakdown shows adult withdrawals at 11,753, a decrease of 45 with fiction numbered at 5,838, a decrease of 424; non-fiction at 5,910, a decrease of 54; and foreign language books at 5, an increase of 3. Decreases were compensated for by the jump in juvenile circulation—up to 9,428, a rise of 1,775 over the year before.

Statistics indicate the library had 92,332 volumes on its shelves at the end of the month, an increase of 2,376, while registrations numbered 17,586, an increase of 1,744.

man Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The Dulles meeting has been tentatively set for July 5. A favorable response to the invitation is expected from the United States.

The announcement came at the end of De Gaulle's first full-scale cabinet meeting on foreign affairs.

In Washington, the state department declined to say whether De Gaulle's invitation has been received. Diplomatic sources, however, reported that such an invitation had been forwarded to Dulles and might be discussed at Dulles' meeting there today with Macmillan.

Visit to Canada

Department officials privately pointed out that Dulles will accompany President Eisenhower on a visit to Canada July 8-10. The possibility of a quick trip to Paris on July 5 before the journey to Canada cannot be excluded, officials said.

Since taking office De Gaulle has made diplomatic feelers for talks among all the big western powers. These would be a prelude to any possible summit conference with the Soviet Union.

De Gaulle plans to confer separately with Adenauer and with Macmillan if they do not get together during the Dulles trip to Paris.

Cabinet Spokesman Andre Malraux also said the meeting backed the western view on atomic disarmament that it must be fully controlled and with adequate precautions.

Malraux said France's relations with Tunisia — a low ebb since the French bombing of a Tunisian village last February — were now improved.

De Gaulle was reported determined to override defiance by the Algerian insurgent junta and hold local elections in Algeria next month.

The letter said that only two per cent of the 875,000 employees covered by unemployment compensation have exhausted their benefits, and that present maximum payments represent 50 per cent of the increased from a maximum of normal "take home" pay after taxes.

Total County Employment Up

1 Per Cent Hike Noted in 2 Months Ended at Mid-May

Employment in Outagamie county increased about 1 per cent in the two months ended in mid-May, the Wisconsin State Employment Service reports.

"Favorable expected increases in paper and allied products, construction, wholesale and retail trades pushed total employment from 11,847 at mid-March to 11,930 at mid-May," Fred R. Gehrke, WSES manager in Appleton said.

"The picture was somewhat tempered," Gehrke added, "by the continuing reduction of work force in the machinery field exclusive of electrical machinery."

Indicating a recovery from the bleak employment picture of early this year is the labor turnover rate, Gehrke points out.

Cites Quit Rate
"Twelve persons per 1,000 voluntary quit their jobs in April," Gehrke said, "compared to 6 per 1,000 in February. During the same period the layoff rate declined from 10 per 1,000 to 5 per 1,000."

Gehrke anticipates a quickening of demand for workers, particularly outdoor workers, but claims part-time summer workers' opportunities will be limited to jobs in food processing plants and fields.

While the local worker will fill the plant jobs, Gehrke believes foreign workers will have to be imported for the field work. Local laborers won't take the field work, he says.

During May, Gehrke's office found jobs for 182 people in Outagamie and Waupaca counties. This compares to 173 in April and 234 in May, 1957.

There were 307 jobs available in May, compared to 304 in April and 423 in May, 1957. At May's end, 62 jobs were unfilled after employers were questioned again. This compares to 83 at April's end and 142 at the end of May, 1957.

Gehrke's office in May referred people to employers 278 times, compared to 327 times in April and 378 times in May last year. At month's end there were 1,678 people still seeking

Fischer Highway Probe Dies With Auto Firm Owner's Letter

The owner of an auto supply company which was embroiled in a controversy with the Outagamie county board Tuesday told the supervisors he wanted the whole matter dropped.

E. M. Schreiter, owner of Schreiter Auto Supply company, wrote the board that he had been out of town during the controversy. He added that he appreciated any county business he had received and hoped it would continue.

Appleton Fifteenth Ward Supv. Alois C. Fischer in March demanded a full probe of the highway department, citing that an order had been issued forbidding purchases from the Schreiter firm. Fischer said the order was issued after an employee of the firm had signed a letter sent out by Fischer's organization, County for Tomorrow. The letter contained figures indicating private contractors could build highways more cheaply than counties.

A subsequent investigation by the board's executive committee failed to disclose any further charges and indicated that Fischer's boycott charge was a case of an ambiguous order by Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson.

Fischer since has tried to get the county board to review the charges, but the board has refused. Fischer Tuesday told the supervisors they had won a victory—this board is playing ostrich, burying its head in the sand. I will fight for the freedom of speech of any citizen anytime. You've aggravated this employer until you got your pound of flesh."

Highway Committee Chairman Fred Krause angrily told Fischer he was the aggravator. Fischer refused to renew the discussion.

School Board Studies Changes In Construction

Additional Items
Needed in Programs
At Grade Schools

Kaukauna — Changes in the building program at the city grade schools and extra items not figured in the construction cost were brought to the attention of the board of education Tuesday evening.

The board authorized the architect to secure estimates for removal of an old tower on the Nicolet school building and for thermostats needed to replace outdated equipment at both Park and Nicolet schools.

Band Problems

A request from the city recreation department to use high school band instruments for the summer musical program was referred to a committee of Elwood Bleick, high school band director, Julian Biehler, principal, and a representative of the recreation department.

The men will try to work out an agreement for use of the instruments and receive a written agreement by the recreation department concerning responsibility for instruments which may be damaged.

The board voted to let high school band members decide whether they would participate in summer functions after a letter was read from the VFW asking the local group to appear in a parade.

Members agreed they would not designate which functions students would have to participate in during the summer but rather would leave the matter entirely up to musicians who volunteered to march in parades to take part in concerts.

A $100 subsidy was approved for the Kaukauna High School alumni association for its annual banquet. The hiring of four college students to do summer maintenance work at schools was approved.

Donald Knott, a Stevens Point State college graduate and former teacher at Wausau, was hired to teach mathematics at the high school in fall. He will be an added teacher necessitated by the large number of students taking math each year.

The school board will study applicants for the post of chemistry instructor and authorized the superintendent of schools to continue efforts to hire an art teacher, girls' physical education teacher and a kindergarten teacher.

Klubbers Play Make-Up Game At Manitowoc

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Klubbers will attempt to regain the winning trail at 8 o'clock tonight when they travel to Manitowoc for a make-up game in the Fox Valley Baseball league.

The Klubbers dropped their opening game, bounced back to take wins over Harrison and Oshkosh and Sunday dropped a 7 to 5 decision to the strong Little Chute-Kimberly squad. Kaukauna has been bolstered by the return of several players who were still attending college for the first few games.

Joe DeBruin will likely be on the mound for Kaukauna tonight as Gerry Hopfensperger went the distance Sunday afternoon.

Committee Recommends Job Reclassification

Health Officer, Relief Director
Post Suggested

Kaukauna — The health and recreation committee of the common council voted to recommend to the common council the separation of duties of the recreation director and health and relief officer.

The motion came after Robert Vanevenhoven, former assistant health officer, recreation director, relief director and director of the city ambulance, pointed out the duties were too much for one man to handle. He suggested the establishing of a full time position of relief director, assistant health officer and ambulance director and another full time office of park supervisor and recreation director.

A motion to advertise for a man to fill all these positions at the same time was defeated and a second motion to create separate departments was adopted. The council will study recommendations at the June 17 meeting.

Temporary Employee

The group authorized the finance committee to contact some city employee to handle duties to be vacated by Vanevenhoven on June 17 on a temporary 30-day basis at a wage of $75 per month. The committee took under study a suggestion to have four full time park employees to be supervised by the new recreation director.

The committee will recommend to the common council the setting up of a city band under the direction of David Ludke, the salary not to exceed $240 per month. Ludke will handle the organization for the summer months.

Ludke and Vanevenhoven both appeared before the group to speak in favor of such a band. The entire program would be under the direction of the recreation department and participation would be open to adults and youngsters. Ludke defined the program and listed the advantages and disadvantages of such a unit.

He told aldermen both a marching and concert band could be organized along with a dance orchestra for teenage affairs, a drum and bugle corps unit, twirling unit, junior drill team, pep band for sporting events, choral groups and solo and ensemble work for talent shows and other appearances.

Tentative Schedule

Ludke presented a tentative schedule for various units including seven appearances for the concert band and seven appearances for the dance orchestra. He advocated weekly rehearsals for the concert band and suggested additional appearances at booster games, local parades and picnics, invitational events, talent shows and swimming meets.

The dance orchestra should rehearse at least twice each week, according to Ludke, and could make appearances for light concerts, street dances and invitational events.

4th Round Matches Set In FVGC Twilight Loop

All women are requested to be off the course by noon Thursday. An evening meal will be served for men after which cards will be played. Team captains are to check the board for their opponents and keep track of team scores.

Firemen Extinguish Fire in Junked Cars

City Softball Loop Leaders Win 7th Tilt

Shermy Wins Second Game Behind 4-Hit
Hurling by Bill Simon

Kaukauna — Nagel bar won its seventh game without a defeat in the City Softball league Monday night, taking a 7 to 1 win over Mullen barbers. The losers now have a record of two wins and six defeats.

The second game had Shermy's barbers score a 22 to 2 win over Arnie's. The losers now have one win and five losses while the winners have two wins in seven starts.

Nagel's sewed up the game in the first inning with a 3-run outburst on an error, a walk, a single and a double by Dave Stuber. The winners added a run without a hit in the second inning and then concluded their scoring with three runs in the sixth on a walk and three singles. Mullen's scored its only run in the fourth on a triple by Joe Erickson and a single. The losers had six hits off the hurling of Conny Knaus while the winners made nine hits off the slants of Sonny Kneepkins. Shermy's exploded for 10 runs in the second inning to clinch a 5-inning game with Arnie's. The winners scored the 10 runs on four walks, a hit batsman, two singles, two doubles and two triples. The winners added three runs in the third, six in the fourth and four more in the fifth.

The only tallies for the losers came in the second and fifth as they were held to four hits by Bill Simon. The winners made 18 hits and received 13 free passes.

3 Teenagers Convicted

Robbed School Class, Assaulted Teacher
With Bat in Bronx

New York — Three teenagers were convicted Monday of the baseball bat assault on a teacher who tried to protect his class of 35 boys and girls from robbery in a park.

A fourth teenage defendant was acquitted. All four are Negroes.

One of those convicted, Kenneth Swanson, 16, was sent to Bellevue hospital for mental examination as the trial ended in Bronx county court. Because of the boy's erratic behavior during the trial, the prosecutor joined a defense lawyer in requesting Judge William Lyman to have the boy examined.

Sentencing of three was set for July 11.

Ralph Boone, 16, was acquitted on all counts in the indictment.

The attack took place in Crotona Park in the Bronx last March 24. The teacher, Arthur Santos, 36, of the Bronx Community school run by a Seventh Day Adventist church, had taken the pupils to the park to play baseball.

Annoyed Class

Santos, a ministerial student, was punched, kicked and hit with a baseball bat when he tried to protect his charges.

The attackers were accused of annoying his class members and stealing a dime, two pens and a pencil from one of the pupils, Robert Perez, 13. The boy was struck.

Swanson and Richard Curtis, 17, were convicted of the assault on the teacher, the assault on the pupil, robbery and grand larceny. They could be sentenced to up to 45 years in prison.

Wayne Dowling, 17, was convicted only of assault on the teacher. He could get up to five years.

False Alarm

Kimberly — The volunteer fire department answered a false alarm call to the alarm box at the corner of Walnut and Third streets about 3:30 Tuesday afternoon.

Twister in State Faster Than Normal

Heavy Toll Said
Caused by Speed
Tornado Traveled

Minneapolis — The Weather bureau here said the violent tornado which ravaged northwestern Wisconsin last Wednesday traveled eastward at a speed of 52 miles an hour.

Philip W. Kenworthy, meteorologist in charge of the bureau here, said the heavy toll of deaths and injuries probably was due to the storm's high speed, plus the fact that it was enveloped in heavy rain.

The tornado, which apparently sprouted three separate funnels, killed 28 persons and injured more than 100 as it raked through the Wisconsin counties of St. Croix, Dunn, Eau Claire, Chippewa and Clark.

Kenworthy said the speed of the tornado cloud was calculated from the time one funnel touched down at Woodville until the storm hit Colfax, where the heaviest toll of lives and damage occurred.

350 Pheasants Being Raised By Sports Club

Kaukauna — The Kaukauna Rod and Gun club has received 350 pheasant chicks from the conservation department, birds to be reared and released later this summer for the benefit of hunters.

The birds are being raised in the newly constructed pens at the George Weyenberg residence, route 1, Kaukauna. Additional pens are to be constructed making it possible for the club to raise 1,000 pheasants.

Visitors are welcome to visit the farm and see the pheasants and the rearing pens, according to Gerald Vils, club president.

Irish IYFE Boy Explains Farms at Darboy Ever Alert 4-H Meeting

BY DICK GLAMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Darboy — A picture of farm life in Ireland was offered to about 50 members and guests of the Darboy Ever Alert 4-H club Tuesday night at the Holy Angels parish hall.

Hugh Kennedy Hamill, a young Irish farmer staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Wittmann, route 4, Appleton, under the International Farm Youth Exchange program, said that what farms in Ireland lack in size compared with the average American farm, they must make up in efficiency.

The average Irish farm is about 50 acres, the 25-year-old red head explained in his pleasant brogue. Crops are mostly potatoes, oats and hay which is made into grass silage for the dairy herds.

No Wire Fences

The fields are usually about five acres and are not separated by wire fences but fences of hawthorne hedges. The farm buildings are nearly all of stone or brick in contrast to the wood on most American farms.

Milking of the dairy herds is usually done in milking parlors and the milk stored in bulk with bulk pickup trucks, he said. The dairy cattle are about 60 per cent Holstein and 40 per cent Ayrshire.

An American farm boy would not recognize an Irish silo — they're all of the trench variety built on top of the ground with cement walls and a roof.

The cattle eat right from the silo and are directed to the portion to be eaten by an adjustable fence. Corn is not used for silage, and the hay grown produces about seven to eight tons of grass silage to the acre.

Through color slides, Hamill explained the various farm operations. Grazing in the pasture is closely controlled by an easily moved electric fence. The cattle are not allowed to roam all over the pasture as on most farms in this country.

The oats when cut are kept in a building or a waterproof stack until the contract threshing makes his round. With the frequent rainfall, they would spoil if left in the shock in the field as was common practice in this country only a few years ago.

Mild Winters

The homes in Ireland have no central heating systems, but nearly every room has its fireplace, Hamill continued. Winters in Ireland are not nearly as severe as in Wisconsin and they considered it a bad winter last year when there was three weeks of frost and snow.

Children in Ireland begin primary school at the age of five and continue until 11. At that time they take a test to decide if they will go to the secondary (high) school or attend a vocational school, the young Irishman explained. All schools are free up to university level.

Showing a picture of an average car in Ireland, he said gasoline costs about 75 cents a gallon and it would be too expensive to drive a large American auto.

Hamill will stay at the Wittmann farm until June 25 when he will visit other Wisconsin families and in Illinois and Colorado. He will leave the country at the end of October.

Players Needed For Two Lower Cage Leagues

Kaukauna — More registrations are needed to round out the recreation department sponsored summer basketball leagues for minor and junior boys, according to Gerry Hopfensperger, league director.

No previous playing experience is necessary, according to the director. Registrations can be made to the director at any time this week.

The Junior league will be for fourth, fifth or sixth grades in the fall and the Minor league will be for boys entering the seventh, eighth or ninth grades in fall.

Speeders Fined In Justice Court At Little Chute

Little Chute — Four speeders appeared in justice court and were fined $10 and costs each for speeding on W. Main avenue.

Fined were Ira C. Nelson, 51, 1230 E. Wisconsin avenue, Appleton; Alma J. Donley, 44, 928 E. Lincoln avenue, Little Chute; Donald C. Wynboom, 21, 622 Madison street, Little Chute; and Harold Hawthorne, 24, 4600 E. Wisconsin Road, Appleton.

Margaret Spaulding, 34, 223 Kamps street, Kimberly, was fined $15 and costs for speeding.

Henry Schneiderman, 40, Green Bay, forfeited bond of $15 for speeding.

All arrests were made with the speed watch Friday afternoon on W. Main avenue. Three points were charged against the record of each motorist.

Minor Damage Reported In Village Accident

Little Chute — Minor damage was reported in an accident in the 100 block of Main avenue about 10 o'clock Monday morning, according to police.

A car driven by Mrs. Bernard Miller, 620 E. Main avenue, Little Chute, was struck by a truck driven by Gerald A. Berken, 33, 702 Jefferson street, Little Chute. Mrs. Miller was pulling out from a parking space when the truck backed into the right front door of the car.

Graduate Gets Job

More than a shiny diploma is needed to land the job of a new grad's dreams. She also needs the recommendations of a good appearance. For an employer's experience shows that personal standards carry over into work: that a shoddy girl is apt to turn out shoddy work, that the groomed girl gives an organized performance.

In preparing for an interview, the applicant who follows these do's and don'ts is sure to rate high in appearance:

Do wear an outfit that is tailored to business, neither flashy nor drab. Don't overdo in the make-up department. Keep it natural. Do avoid a fussy hair style. Simple, clean and neat is the rule. Don't overlook one point of grooming. A shower, a deodorant, fresh lingerie, shoe shine and spotless gloves form a foundation for poised feelings, as well as poised looks.

During an interview, do sit erect and don't fidget. Do avoid chewing gum or smoking. Don't be gushy or shy. Do speak in a quiet, sure voice and look the interviewer right in the eye.

To get the best job, in other words, do present your best self!

Memo to Shrewd Businessmen: Diamonds are a Girl's Best Friend

BY DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Every woman with a yen for diamonds should note well the feminine logic of beautiful, red-headed and jewel-bedecked Marianne Ostier, who explains how to convince a husband that precious jewels are a man's best buy.

The way this noted Viennese-American jewelry designer explains it in her new book, "Jewels and the Women," a diamond bracelet or an emerald necklace really costs nothing, because—

"The precious stones that Cleopatra wore for the admiration of three monarchs still hold their prestine fire, and no doubt sparkle on the throat of some fair lady of today. If the pairs of ear clips, six neck-cost of a jewel is measured laces, six solitaires, and six big against the duration of its use—bracelets—all diamonds and all fulness—it is clear there is no better investment."

A fine jewel is as negotiable as gilt-edged stocks and bonds. Mrs. Ostier points out—and not half so vulnerable to market fluctuations. And often the old-how it gets the more valuable it becomes.

Born and reared in Vienna, she married court jeweler Oliver Ostier, and started designing jewelry for such well-heeled personages as Queen Marie of Romania, the Maharanee of Cooch-Behar, Queen Geraldine of Labania, the Maharanee of Baroda and the six sisters of King Zog of Albania.

"King Zog's order was quite a challenge," recalls Marianne, "He wanted six diadems, six pairs of ear clips, six neck-cost of a jewel is measured laces, six solitaires, and six big against the duration of its use—bracelets—all diamonds and all different—for his six sisters. We of course obliged him with the most dazzling collection of gems available. He and the six sisters were very happy about the whole thing."

Chemise Accent

The Ostiers transferred operations in 1940 from Vienna to New York, where they started turning out precious baubles for Americans in the upper income brackets.

Marianne has definite ideas on current jewelry fashions, to wear with the new chemise and trapeze dresses.

"I'm definitely not in favor of all those ropes of colored beads women are wearing these days," says she. "Lots of beads only make a woman look older."

"Of course every change of fashion affects jewelry design. The only reason for jewelry (aside from investment) is to flatter a woman. Otherwise why should she spend money for it?"

Not Money Display

"Jewelry should not be worn merely as a display of wealth. If that's all you want to do, you might as well wear a check pinned to your dress."

"In my opinion, the ear clip is the most important focal point of today's jewelry—the bigger the better. Ear clips are getting bigger and bigger all the time. They should make a really dramatic effect if they are worn at all."

Money and Mom: Tale of Woe Told by English Duke of Bedford

London — The road to success in upper-class Britain is paved with American mothers. And the Duke of Bedford says sorrowfully he never had one.

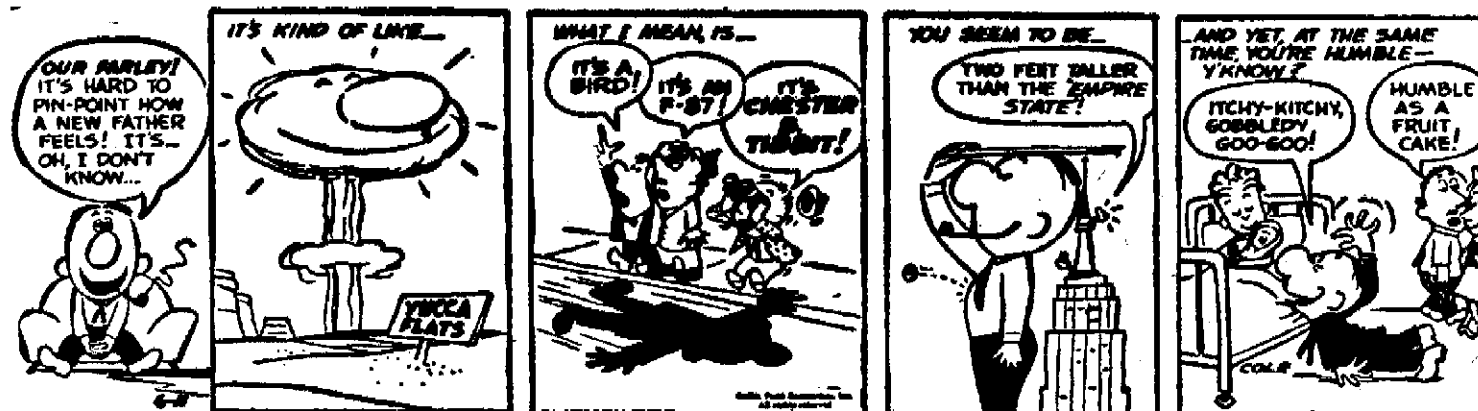

Sir Winston Churchill had one. Prime Minister Harold Mac-jazz up his stately home for the tourists is that Marlborough "has a rich American mother to keep him."

The Duke of Bedford has turned his stately home, Woburn abbey, into an entertainment center to help pay off death duties. There are peep shows, juke boxes, milk bars and a zoo, and the duke stands behind a counter and sells picture postcards and mementos. American tourists go there in scores.

"That fellow?" said Marlborough of Bedford. "He's always on television or something. I think it's a common and vulgar remark. There's no need to make remarks about my family. I'd rather not comment on his."

He let it be known that Blenheim palace, presented to the first Duke of Marlborough by Queen Anne for his victory at Blenheim in 1704, is going to remain a stately home — with the accent on the stately.

The present duke's mother is the former Consuelo Vanderbilt, whose marriage to the 9th duke was one of the first alliances of American wealth and European title. She and the duke were divorced in 1920 and she is now Mrs. Jacques Balsan, living in New York and Florida.

neuvering to be near the bachelor. Of course she thinks we are crazy. Will you comment, please?—P.C.M.

If your 19-year-old daughter is determined to get her lumps the hard way, there's nothing you can do to stop her.

The fact that she's never been asked out by this man should be proof that he's not interested. His flustered reaction to the dinner invitation and prompt refusal, should have clinched it.

Save your breath to cool your soup, folks. Your daughter is due for a first-class re-buff—and she'll get it. (Copyright 1958)

Your Problems

Finger Painting Replaces 3 R's In Contemporary Curriculum

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: As a former school teacher and now the mother of four children, I was very much interested in the letter from a fourth grader who sent his daily arithmetic assignment to you because he heard you "solved problems."

I'm certain this youngster was not pulling your leg. It is an astonishing fact that the children in the public schools of America are being taught everything but how to read and write. Apparently this poor chap isn't getting arithmetic either.

Courses are being offered in "finger-painting," "how to walk," "bowling," and "driving a car." Last term my daughter's class took a trip to look at sand dunes.

If something isn't done to put education back on the track, America will be a nation of illiterate who will know how to finger-paint, walk, bowl and drive, (and perhaps recognize a sand dune when they see one.) but they will be unable to read or write. Comment please. —A. B. C.

Do you know who runs the public schools of America—it's the boards of education. Translated, this means, the citizens of the community. John Dewey, the father of progressive education, has been blamed for a good many things for which he's not responsible.

True some schools do go too far afield, but others don't go far enough. It's unfair to make a blanket statement that all public schools pass over the basic subjects and hammer away at non-essential frippery.

If, in your particular community, the schools are glossing over the essentials and concentrating on educational frills, get a group together and apply pressure where it will do some good. The board of education will be happy to hear what you have to say.

DEAR ANN: Last July our daughter, 19, met a 28-year-old bachelor. They've been together in groups many times and our daughter has told everyone that she's mad about him. He has never asked her for a date.

My husband and I decided to comment by her constant ma-

Let me tell you what I saved when I drove a new Plymouth...then bought one!

Like a lot of people, I was putting off buying a new car... even though we sure needed one. Then I found out what my Plymouth dealer was offering in the way of low prices and really big trades.

Mister, when I saw what I saved I knew there was no use putting off any longer! Got more for my old car than I believed possible. (Plymouth dealers need used cars and can sell all they get!) Got a terrifically low price on the new Plymouth ...and choice of models besides... hardtops, sedans, convertibles, wagons.

And I saved a cool $140 on the ride alone! Plymouth's top-luxury ride, Torsion-Aire Ride, is standard at no extra cost, while you have to pay up to $140 for the top ride of competing "low-price 3" cars.

What's more, I got the car that proved it can save me gasoline, by winning the 1958 Mobilgas

Economy Run. A car with Silver Dart Styling that is so far ahead right now it will still be worth more when I trade. With the kind of easy handling that makes every minute of driving a downright thrill! The stamina to stand up without nagging adjustments and big repairs... a car as much better built as it is better looking!

Any wonder I quit waiting? Take my tip... get your Plymouth bargain right now.

Today's best buy... tomorrow's best trade... Plymouth

Calumet Board Rezones Land South of Appleton

City, Harrison Supervisors Dissent in Changing Classification to Commercial

Chilton — An ordinance rezoning a strip of land in the town of Harrison from agricultural to commercial classification was passed by an 18 to 2 vote of the county board of supervisors at Tuesday's session.

The area covered by the amended zoning ordinance includes a 400-foot strip extending from the Appleton city limits to the Waverly corner, east of Highway 10.

Passage of the zoning regulation, which had laid over from the last board session, presented the only major controversy on the agenda.

George Schwalbach, town of Harrison, questioned the legality of procedure in connection with public hearing on the matter which had been held in April. He said the town clerk of Harrison had not received written notice of the hearing, although the entire town board had been present at the meeting.

People Upset

Schwalbach continued that the people of his area "are very upset" over the rezoning issue. The Winnebago section west of Highway 10 is completely residential and that he believed that residents of neighboring towns should be considered since they all had to live in the section.

Dist. Atty. Franklin J. Schmieder said he didn't know

Hold Licenses For Four City Tavern Owners

Committee Rules Premises Must Pass Fire Inspections

Operators of four city taverns will have to comply with fire inspectors' recommendations before they will be given 1958-59 tavern licenses, the welfare and ordinance committee has ruled.

The four are Hilary J. Miller, Thomas Quella, Al Recker and Lud Freund.

City Clerk Elden J. Broehm said today he was instructed to put the four on the approved list if they comply before next Tuesday. The city council will vote on the list, containing 68 taverns, next Wednesday night.

Other Licenses Held

Licenses for some bartenders also are being held until reports of their physical examinations are filed with Broehm.

The committee approved 59 licenses for amusement devices, 58 for bartenders, 27 for sale of beer in grocery stores, 21 for beer and liquor stores, 18 for sidewalk builders, 9 for junk dealers, 7 for beer at picnics, 6 each for beer bars, drainlayer contractors, drainlayer journeymen and amusement device operators, 4 for bowling alleys, 4 for theaters, 2 for secondhand stores and taxicab companies, and 1 each for soft drink manufacturing, the billboard advertising, dance hall, pool table and pharmacist.

Other Actions

In other action, the committee approved an ordinance which would permit the city clerk to destroy outdated records. It will go to the council for the first time.

Accepted the informal bid of Fraser Lumber company to repair the porch at the city home for about $300. The porch was damaged in a minor fire last month.

Ordered the city clerk to advertise for bids on milk for relief clients and the city home, whether purchase or rental of a vehicle would be the most to buy valve parts from Bah-call, Inc., for repair work at the Erb park swimming pool. The work was completed Tuesday.

whether the park commission had sent the written notices, but that it was a small technicality. Protests on the matter must be registered with the county clerk at least 24 hours before the board session, according to Wisconsin law. While the Harrison group has had several weeks to protest the measure, none has been made, Schmieder said.

Oscar Schabus, a member of the park commission, said "nothing was being ruined" by the passing of the ordinance and that eventually the entire area would be classified as commercial. It is better to do it at one time than to have to run through a half dozen piecemeal zoning proceedings, he observed.

Oscar Kossman, Chilton town, moved for the adoption of the ordinance. It was passed, with Schwalbach and John B. Stein, Appleton 2nd precinct, both voting nay.

Approve Claim

A resolution authorizing payment of claims of $3,043.90 to the city of New Holstein for installation of storm sewers on the Calumet Homestead property was allowed after some discussion.

Herman Greve, Hilbert, objected on the basis that when the home for the aged was located in New Holstein the city had agreed to water and sewer installation. The storm sewers are located on the Homestead property owned by the county, but were installed by the city of New Holstein.

General consensus of the board was that the Homestead, which has benefited from the sewer installation, is now a functioning part of the county and is a part of the board's responsibility. The resolution passed with Greve and Henry Steenport, Chilton, voting against it.

Money will be taken out of the Homestead account and not from the general fund. Another resolution rescinding a rule passed several years ago which required affidavits on claims was passed unanimously.

Traffic Signs

A traffic ordinance regarding stop signs was passed unanimously. This was done as a matter of conformity. The signs are located on county trunks which have recently been reletters. No signs have been changed.

Oscar Kossman, Henry Steiner and Al Schumacher were named to a committee to investigate the possibility of setting up a rural numbering program in the county.

Arno Kopf was appointed dance hall inspector from the town of Chilton. All county officers and members of the board of supervisors were given authorization to attend their respective summer conventions.

Requests Vehicle

During the morning session, L. P. Blumberg, chairman of the board of trustees for Calumet Homestead, appeared to request the purchase of a 9-passenger station wagon for the home.

Money for the vehicle has been appropriated by the board. Blumberg indicated that the trustees felt that the expenditure of a large sum should have complete board approval and not be handled by the committee alone.

The vehicle will be used for shopping, taking guests for medical and dental care, and recreational trips away from the home. At present the superintendent's car is being damaged in a minor fire last month.

Wilmor Struening, Brilltown, moved that a committee be appointed to investigate whether purchase or rental of a vehicle would be the most to buy valve parts from Bah-call, Inc., for repair work at the Erb park swimming pool. The work was completed Tuesday.

Village Moves Toward Work on Sewage Plant

Shiocton—Final plans and the preparation for a call of bids on the proposed sewage disposal plant here will be completed by Baxter and Woodman engineers, according to action taken by the village board.

The village has been ordered by the state committee on pollution to construct a treatment plant to end the pollution of the Shiocton and Wolf rivers. A representative of Harley and Haydon, investment brokers of Madison, explained financing methods to the board.

There are three avenues opened to the board; mortgage revenue bonds, sewer service charge or property assessments. A combination of these methods is also possible, the board was told.

The board also granted beer and liquor class B licenses to Clyde McCabe, Donald Johnson, Russell Obermeier, Jo Ann Baurian, Leo Shepard, Richard Yable and Clyde Nagle. Beer licenses went to Joseph Wittnik and the American Legion post.

Admits Stealing Flags

A 13-year-old boy admitted stealing four flags from Riverside cemetery graves Tuesday. The youth had given the flags to another boy, who told police where he got them.

3 Youths Admit Stealing Car, Fleeing State Patrolman

Two Appleton youths were detained in the county jail and a third turned over to Appleton police by sheriff's Lt. Jack Zuelzke Tuesday after they admitted stealing a car Monday night.

The youths were chased into Appleton on Highway 10 at speeds up to 75 miles an hour by State Patrolman Don Nimmer about 10 o'clock Monday night. When Nimmer drew along side the stolen car, it slowed to about 10 miles an hour and the youths jumped out and fled.

Nimmer said he had to curb the rolling car or it would have crossed Highway 10 into heavy westbound traffic near the N. Badger avenue intersection. Nimmer said the youths had vanished by the time he stopped the car and started a search for them.

Appleton police, Zuelzke, Undersheriff Robert Heinritz, County Policeman William Block, Jr., and Nimmer scoured the area in a vain attempt to locate the youth. Parents of one of the boys later caught told police that he had been in bed at the time of the escape.

The youths, all of whom are under supervision for juvenile offenses, are 14, 16 and 17 years old. A fourth youth who rode with them lives in Menasha, fund $10 per acre for areas 1. Police have charged the three youths with driving without a driver's license and operating a car without the owner's consent. The 14-year-old may be charged with reckless driving, police said.

The 14-year-old drove the stolen car into a ditch on Ballard road and partially rolled it over. They righted it and continued, police said.

The car was owned by Ter-Hy Howard, 212 E. Harris street, and was stolen from 404 N. Bennett street.

County Rents Part Of Port for Hay Field

The Outagamie county airport will produce some hay for the next few years, the county board decided Tuesday.

The board approved a lease with John Coenen to rent 30 acres for a low-growing crop. The area is south of the present east-west runway. Coenen will pay $100 this year while the land is prepared for farming next year. For the next three years, he will pay $300.

The lease agreement allows the county to withdraw any part of the section which is needed for airport use or construction. The county will receive $10 per acre for areas 1. The wing will be opened July

Riverview Wing Set Aside for Care of Aged

Sanatorium Board Will Administer Section, County Says

One wing of Riverview sanatorium was formally established as the Outagamie County General hospital by the county board Tuesday.

Ending the dispute over administration which halted efforts to house aged persons in the sanatorium last month, the board made the sanatorium board of trustees the administrators of the new hospital.

Earlier discussions had split on using the Golden Age home board of trustees as administrators of the one wing of the sanatorium. The board felt this was unworkable.

The west wing of the sanatorium, starting with the first floor, will be used to house only chronically ill and aged in need of long term remedial and convalescent care. The wing cannot be used as a diagnostic center, the board ruled.

Aged receiving public assistance will receive preference in admission. The wing will be opened July hospital, the board elected a 3-member advisory admittance board. The members were elected for a term ending next April 30, and will be named annually thereafter by the county board.

New board members are Walter Blake, Black Creek, Golden Age home and county hospital trustee; Dr. George L. Boyd, Kaukauna, Riverview sanatorium trustee, and Appleton Eighth ward Supv. Sylvester Esler, Golden Age home trustee. The board also raised the maximum which can be charged residents of the aged homes to $250 per month from $150. Esler pointed out this was more in line with the $10 per day the county must pay hospitals for aged receiving bed care.

Man Injured as Cars Hit at Intersection

Cars driven by Douglas Englund, 21, 520 1/2 W. Summer street, and George J. Reimer, 52, of 1021 N. Oneida street, collided at W. Wisconsin avenue and N. Bennett street at 1:25 this morning.

England, driving south on N. Bennett, received a cut on the jaw when his car skidded 130 feet into a tree. Reimer, traveling west on Wisconsin avenue was uninjured.

Thomas C. Heuer, 18, Strobe's Island, had his windshield broken by a loaf of bread Tuesday, he told county police.

Heuer said he was driving along County Trunk BB near St. Mary cemetery when a truck passing in the opposite direction lost a loaf of bread wrapped in a plastic bag.

The impact cracked the windshield in Heuer's 1957 station wagon, he said.

Supervisors Agree To Bond for Bridge

Board Debates Proprieties of Avoiding Referendum on Bonding

Outagamie county supervisors, after wrestling for two hours with the proprieties of evading a referendum, Tuesday approved a $500,000 bond issue for the major share of the county's portion of the proposed College-to-Candee high level bridge.

The county's share of the $1.8 million structure is $600,000, and supervisors indicated $100,000 will be taken from a matured $115,000 bond issue originally issued for an addition to the Golden Age home and never used.

Voting twice, once authorizing the issue and once authorizing the sale, Appleton Twelfth ward Supv. Glenn Pelton was alone in opposing the bond issue. Pelton earlier had described routing a county trunk over the bridge so that no referendum was necessary for the bond issue as "conniving, circumventing the state law, subterfuge and giving the act the appearance of legality."

New London Third ward Supv. Walter F. Fredericks and Bear Creek Supv. Lawrence Rebmam voted present. Six members of the board were absent.

Cut Highways

During final debate, Appleton Fifth ward Supv. Frank Appleton suggested the county stop all highway construction work for the next year and pay for the bridge by the direct tax levy ordinarily used for new roads.

Appleton Thirteenth ward Supv. Fred Krause, chairman of the highway committee, told Appleton that maintenance costs would outweigh money set aside by delaying the construction program a year. It also would mean setting aside the county's 5-year reconstruction program for county trunks, he added.

The county highway department this year took $437,940 from the general tax levy. Of this, $315,040 was a direct levy for construction work.

Direct Levy?

Appleton Eighteenth ward Supv. Sylvester Esler asked the board to make a direct tax levy for the $500,000 needed. How much would it increase the tax rate, he asked?

Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer said a $500,000 addition to the $1.5 million tax levy figured to about a 30 per cent boost.

"There would be a whole new board next year," commented Bovina Supv. Ervin Conradt.

Since the county has advanced the state about $40,000 toward the bridge, Fulcer explained that about $8,000 of this, used for plans and engineering, was spent, but the remainder, for right-of-way, had not been spent.

Appleton Fourteenth ward Ald. Roy Pointer appeared at the afternoon session, explaining that he spoke as an individual, not a representative of the city. He pointed out the city had acted in good faith under the assumption that agreement on the bridge by the board's committees meant that the county was ready to go along with construction.

After the bond resolutions were passed, Appleton asked if he could present a resolution for another form of financing at the board's next session.

Fulcer told him he could, but if he was thinking of taking the highway funds it might be wise to find out just what the costs were through a conference with the highway committee.

In discussing financing for the bridge, Fulcer pointed out the county faced money needs for the airport, county guidance council, Plamann park and several other proposals. Originally, supervisors indicated they would bond the county for $400,000.

The county has more than $310,000 in its insurance fund, $421,551 in its contingent fund and $115,000 in the hospital bond fund. This totals over $846,000 in relatively liquid assets.

The county's bond issue cannot be sold for 30 days, since a waiting period for possible filing of petitions for a referendum is specified by law. A petition must have about 2,400 signatures.

Unauthorized Driver

Gary O. Schnell, 17, 532 Chestnut street, Neenah, license revoked for 30 days for allowing an unauthorized minor to drive.

John R. Kozlowski, 53, 320 E. Harris street, Appleton, no valid driver's license, fined $10.

Raymond Van Bostel, 36, route 1, Seymour, violation of restricted driver's license, fined $5.

Donald J. Pennings, 33, route 1, Appleton, load extending beyond edge of vehicle, fined $10.

Jerome F. Kern, 16, 214 W. Fifth street, Kaukauna, failure to signal left turn, license revoked for six months and ordered to pay court costs. The last two months of revocation will be stayed on condition he attends safety school.

Robert J. Schultz, 42, 937 W. Frances street, fined $10, no current registration.

Milo Singler, 52, Shiocton, unregistered vehicle, fined $10.

Vanceburg, Ky. — People are carrying guns in plain sight here. And the police don't know what to do about it.

Kentucky law forbids concealed weapons, but doesn't say anything about carrying weapons in plain sight.

Police Chief Earl Billman said "certain elements" are wearing revolvers in holsters—old west style. The state attorney general has been appealed to for a ruling.

County Asked for Golf Course, Decides on Committee Study

The Outagamie county board received a request for a county golf course Tuesday.

Combined Locks Supv. Daniel J. Williams wanted it received and filed.

Ellington Supv. Emmett Root, however, got the board to refer it to its airport and parks committee for study.

The request came from the Appleton finance committee and board of public works. It for the use and pleasure of youth, especially rural youth.

The park is now in the planning stage with University of Wisconsin students and teachers making a plan for park use.

He has cited the crowded condition of Reid Municipal making a plan for park use.

Golf course and the high cost only. of land in the city for another course as reasons for a county course.

The county board has shown little enthusiasm for using the 113-acre Plamann park site for working for a new 18-hole golf course since it was donated.

A citizen group in Fond du Lac for the last year has been working for a new 18-hole golf course for Fond du Lac. The $195,000 project is tentatively located on a 216-acre site west of the city with the county asked to provide 72 acres.

City Objects to CNW E. Wisconsin Crossing

Railroad Has Not Complied With PSC Order, Mayor Tells Superintendent

Neenah — The city is disapproving of the new signal system installed by the Chicago and North Western railway at E. Wisconsin avenue.

Mayor Chester Bell this morning wrote J. C. Black, Lakeshore division superintendent, Green Bay, and noted that the railroad had not complied with a public service commission order regarding the signals. The PSC authorized the railroad to install fully automatic signals protecting the crossings at Garfield avenue, Commercial street, Forest avenue, E. North Water street and E. Wisconsin avenue. Regarding the E. Wisconsin avenue signals the railroad was ordered April 17 to "install two flashing light signals with attached side lights directed toward Walnut street."

The railroad has left the wigwag signals standing and operating at this crossing and has not installed signals facing Walnut street. The crossing guard was removed last week. The PSC ordered that "upon completion of the above mentioned installations, the railroad is authorized to remove the manual operation and supervision of signal protection at these crossings."

G. R. Kirchstein, division signal engineer, said this morning that work is complete at the Wisconsin avenue and Garfield avenue crossings. He said he was unaware of the PSC stipulation that flashing signals replace the wigwag devices and that a flasher be installed facing Walnut street at Wisconsin avenue.

The flashing signal was ordered because the city contended in a PSC hearing here last Dec. 11 that the wigwag signals are inconspicuous to traffic approaching from the east, because they blend with the colored lights of the shopping district.

Work at Commercial street and Forest avenue is to be completed during all four days of the yearbook as a senior, projector operator for the Appleton Post-Crescent in two years, participant in the its Twin Cities office, has been a class leader during most of his high school career and was cited for his extra-curricular activities as well as his academic attainment.

The judges noted his energetic in parttime employment during his high school years and the warm recommendations of school authorities and teachers.

During his last school year Shaw received the Jaycee meritorious service award and also a member of the Catholic Students Mission Elks lodge youth leadership crusade and Holy Name award.

completed in about 10 days, Kirchstein said. The E. North Water street crossing is coupled with the Forest avenue device.

Observance of Flag Day Set By Elks Lodge

Early Banners of Country to be Shown At Cook Armory

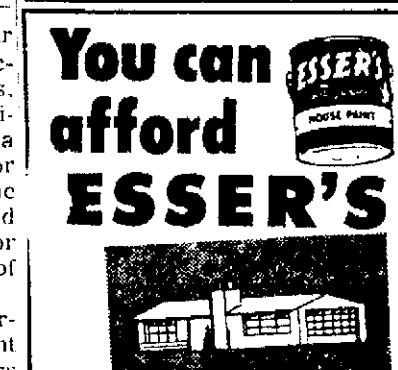

Menasha — Twin City residents were asked to join in the observance of Flag day Saturday by George S. Nelson, Jr., exalted ruler of the Neenah-Menasha Elks lodge, "as a display of unity against the growing menace of communist aggression."

He urged all patriotic citizens to display the flag at their homes and at business establishments on Flag day in cooperation with the Elks' "Show Your Colors" program, celebrating the 181st anniversary of the adoption of the stars and stripes by the Continental Congress on June 14, 1777.

"Old glory is the symbol of freedom that Khrushchev and his fellow tyrants in the Kremlin will destroy if we let them," Nelson said. "Let us strengthen our faith in our way of life and our determination to defend it by honoring our flag on its birthday."

On Committee
The lodge's Flag day committee has begun work on plans for the annual salute to the flag. Members of the committee are Safford W. McMyler, chairman, Don C. Wirth and Robert L. Rogers.

Employment Tops That of Year Ago, Jobs Office Says

Downward Trend Halted in Twin Cities; Worker Supply Up

Neenah — Employment in the Twin Cities has remained virtually unchanged with a halting of the downward trend, according to information reported to the Wisconsin state employment service office here by 43 establishments supplying labor market information.

A. P. Engebretson, employment office manager, declared in his bi-monthly labor market letter issued today that a very slight decrease was noted in manufacturing industries since mid-March but this in turn was a little more than offset by gains in trades, service, government and all other non-manufacturing establishments.

After dropping below the corresponding figure of a year ago in mid-March, the May employment total stood at 11,307 as compared with 11,273 a year ago.

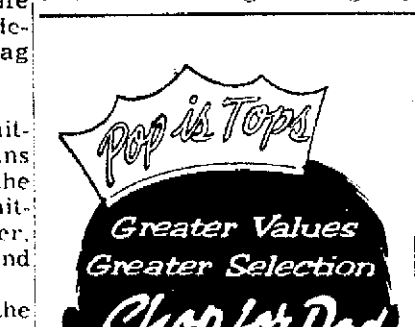

A seasonal employment gain is generally experienced in this area between mid-May and mid-July, Engebretson pointed out. However, the predicted gain of 231 workers by mid-July is far below the actual increases experienced during the last two years, when 512 workers were added in 1956 and 478 in 1957.

Forecasts Conservative
Individual forecasts making up this total appear to be extremely conservative, he stated, but probably only a sharp upturn in business conditions, not now foreseen, would raise the present estimate significantly. The lack of normal hiring during the next two months will drastically limit job opportunities both for high school graduates permanently entering the labor market, and for students seeking summer employment.

The demand for workers in all fields continues to be low, Engebretson cited. Mill and factory openings have for some time been limited to the replacement of turnover from

Lack of Blood Donors Noted by Co-Chairmen

Less Than 50 Persons Have Volunteered For Current Red Cross Twin Cities' Drive

Neenah — Apparent disinterest in the current drive to enroll new volunteer blood donors for the Red Cross blood bank program in Neenah-Menasha has been indicated by the response to date, Carl Snyder and Jerry Bump, co-chairmen of donor recruitment, reported today.

Less than 50 persons have returned cards signifying they wish to become donors, the co-chairmen reported. Of this number, approximately half have been donors and are bringing their cards up to date. About 6,000 enrollment cards were left at homes in the Twin Cities by milkmen last week and an enrollment blank appeared in the Post-Crescent on June

2. Milkmen will continue to pick up the cards.

"It seems many of our citizens are willing to let someone else assume the responsibility of supplying blood for our blood bank," the two chairmen said. "It is a responsibility which should be shared by many rather than a few because the blood bank is ready to serve everyone should the need arise."

"It's never too late to become a volunteer donor," they continued. "Do it in a positive way by being a donor next Monday or Tuesday when the bloodmobile will be at the Boys Brigade building in Neenah."

Omro Man Drowns In Fall From Boat

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

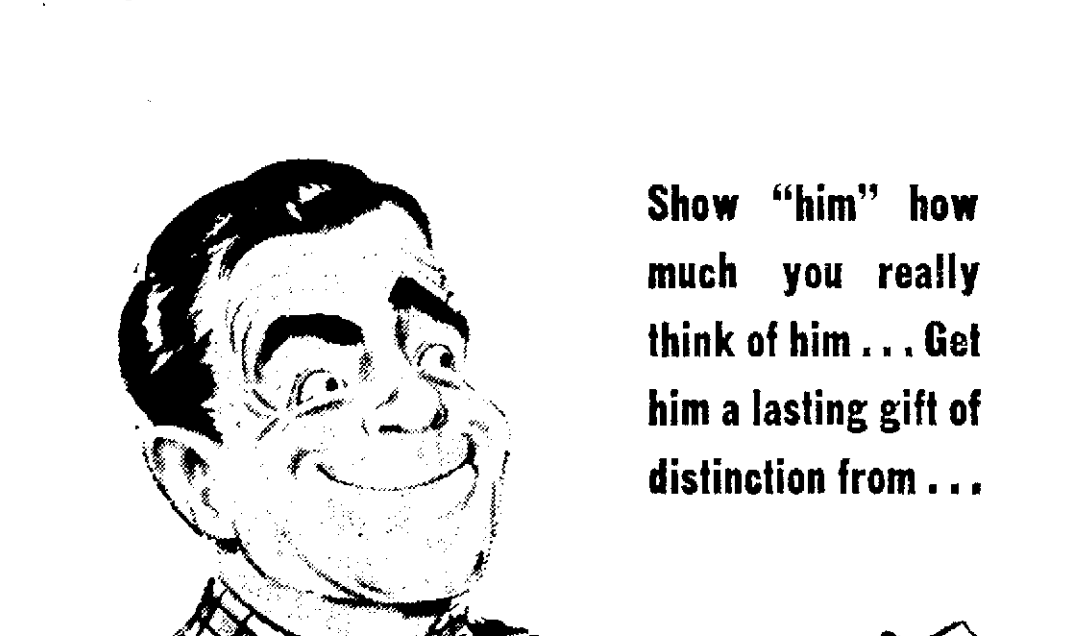

Oshkosh — The body of Frank Loker, 64, Omro, was recovered from the Fox river at Omro about 1:15 this morning after he was found hanging out of his boat by Wesley Bal-

Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago county coroner, and Sheriff Charles Lowry said Loker apparently had tried to unloosen a snagged fishing line and either had fallen or gotten out of his boat. The body was found with an arm and knee hooked over the side into the boat with the rest of the body and the blood bank is ready to serve everyone should the need arise, head under water.

The snagged fishing line had kept the boat from floating downstream. Loker was last seen about 11 o'clock Tuesday night. He usually fished in the bloodmobile will be at the Boys spot about a hundred yards from the bridge here..

Employment in Twin Cities Up Over Year Ago

voluntary separations, which in turn is always low when new job opportunities are scarce. Most of the production workers laid off earlier in the year have now been recalled, but only during the past week or two. There has been any indication of new hiring for limited expansion. Even the demand for clerical workers, openings available to this year's high school graduates, is far below the level of last year.

New openings received by the district office of the state employment service, exclusive of agricultural, domestic and short-time openings, totaled 248 in April and May as compared with 146 in February and March and 385 in April and May of last year.

Since openings normally available to students are sometimes received as early as March, a 4-month comparison may be meaningful, Engbretson thought. The 4-month total, February through May, of openings received this year was only 394 as compared with 628 a year ago and 876 during the same period in 1956.

Vacation Replacement

In addition to the trend of recent years to close plants for two weeks for employees' vacations, short hours and the need to shift permanent employees to further reducing the need for summer vacation replacements this year.

The supply of workers, based on registrations on file in the employment office, has shown since the first of the year, but a small decrease each month will show a sharp increase during the summer as students become available for full-time work, he noted. Active registrations at the end of May totaled 713 as compared with 545 at the end of May in 1957.

In spite of the lack of job opportunities in local mills and factories, the number of out-of-town applicants increased from 297 at the end of March to 331 at the end of May. This increased activity on the part of out-of-town applicants, together with the availability of a larger than usual number of high school graduates, will boost the mid-summer supply of workers available to the highest total in many years.

The bulk of the increase will be workers in the age bracket under 25. The supply will, for the first time in years, contain a substantial number of clerically trained workers, Engbretson declared.

Bob Burns' Daughter Sentenced to 90 Days On Dope Addict Charge

Los Angeles — Barbara Ann Burns, convicted of dope addiction, has been sentenced to the minimum mandatory term, 90 days in jail.

But her attorney appealed the sentence and she was released on $1,000 bail.

The 19-year-old daughter of late comedian Bob Burns was arrested in a Hollywood apartment last January. She was convicted last week and yesterday was sentenced by Municipal Judge Harold C. Shepard. He said he believed her a "victim of circumstances" and had companions.

Arrested soon after Miss Burns was David Mack, an unemployed film technician, whom she married before his trial for furnishing narcotics to a minor. Police said it was Mack who provided Barbara with dope.

Mack was subsequently convicted and is now awaiting sentence.

The building will be used to house core blocks, used in the making of doors. It will measure 70 by 200 feet and stand one story high.

Estimated cost of the new warehouse is $42,300. It is being erected by the Wick Building System, Mazomanie.

The warehouse will be of pole-type construction and will have metal sheeting over a wooden frame. The roof will be of galvanized steel.

Co-Owner of TV Station Called to House Quiz

Washington — House investigators called in a second co-owner of a St. Louis, Mo. television station today to ask how the station got a grant to shift to a more lucrative TV channel.

Paul E. Peltason of KTVI was summoned for questioning after the subcommittee checking federal regulatory agency operations finished a final round of testimony from Peltason's partner, Harry Tenenbaum.

In two days of hearings this week KTVI was pictured as a money-losing venture on UHF (ultra high frequency) Channel 36. Then the federal communications commission voted in February, 1957, to switch the more popular VHF (very high frequency) Channel 2 from Springfield, Ill., to St. Louis and give it to KTVI.

Since the FCC decision was part of the agency's program to separate UHF and VHF areas, the FCC order was made without the usual hearings among competing applicants for a new channel.

Chrysler Employees Asked to Stay on Jobs

Detroit — The United Auto Workers union lifted its soft pedal on strike talk yesterday but at the same time appealed to Chrysler employees to stay on the job and let UAW leaders call signals.

UAW members have been working without contracts at the Chrysler, General Motors and Ford since Memorial day week-end. Operations at GM and Ford have been normal for the most part. Groups of Chrysler workers have clamored for strike action.

Suggestions for Problems In Laundering of Cottons Are Listed by Home Agent

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — The summer season usually means an increased laundry load for the homemaker. Different kinds of wash problems arise with cotton garments such as grease spots, "yellowed" white clothes and discoloring of dark cottons. Difficulty in removing grease spots may be a result of special finishes on the fabric which are put on with a resin. This resin collects and holds grease so it does not come out with ordinary washing. Start by rubbing the grease spot with a soapless hair shampoo. Rub this into the stained area, from the back of the material, if possible.

White Dyes
Backyard cooking and picnics may lead to stains more difficult to remove. A chlorine bleach should take the dye stain out of white cotton or linen, but take special care with finished fabrics, for they may turn yellow. Watch for labels on materials as they often say, "do not use a chlorine bleach." A perborate bleach, mild powdered bleach, can be used on silk, wool and man-made materials. Treat blends for the most easily damaged fiber. New bleaches, brighteners and dyes make it possible to give materials a brilliant white finish that won't yellow or dull. "Whiteners" have been added to soaps and detergents to give a bright clean wash and are now applied directly to the fabrics.

New white dyes seem to take out the yellowish color and make the material even whiter, says Miss Lois Klusmeyer, county home agent. One problem with white materials is to keep them white. Often when they are exposed to the sun or heat of an iron, they are apt to turn brown. A new fabric finish will help keep materials white by preventing such damage. The fresher the stain in a dark cotton, the better your chances for removing it, says Miss Klusmeyer. Try washing the stain thoroughly in warm water, rubbing soap or synthetic detergent into it well.

If the fabric has discolored, try sponging a fresh stain with a little vinegar and water solution. For an older stain, try a little ammonia and water. This en, but take special care with finished fabrics, for they may turn yellow. Watch for labels on materials as they often say, "do not use a chlorine bleach." A perborate bleach, mild powdered bleach, can be used on silk, wool and man-made materials. Treat blends for the most easily damaged fiber. "Whiteners" have been added to soaps and detergents to give a bright clean wash and are now applied directly to the fabrics.

Mildew Spots
Mildew spots can be removed if found before they rot the material. For washable materials, such as cotton and linen, wash with soap and water and dry in the sun. Moisture stubborn stains with lemon juice and salt. Then bleach in the sun. The home agent suggests trying the procedure on a seam or hem first for colored fabrics.

For trouble with keeping the hems of slips clean, mix soap with a little water and put this paste on the soiled parts. Then use a small brush and scrub. Follow with washing in the usual way. The same treatment can be used on collars and cuffs.

Circle Meeting

Wheat Farmers To Vote June 20 On Crop Quota

Two-Thirds Approval Of Plan Needed in U. S. Referendum

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — Winnebago county farmers will help make an important decision when they vote June 20 in the national wheat marketing quota referendum, Lloyd Jones, chairman of the county agricultural stabilization and conservation committee said today.

If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve quotas for the 1959 crop, the 1959 wheat program will include acreage allotments, marketing quotas (with penalties on "excess" wheat) and price supports at a minimum national average of $1.81 per bushel, or 75 per cent of parity.

If the quotas are not approved by at least two-thirds of those voting, there will be no marketing quotas or penalties, but allotments will remain in effect as a means for determining eligibility for price support. The price-support rate would be about $1.20 per bushel.

Arrangements are being made to enlarge the instructional staff because of the large number of registrants, Herziger said.

Swimming classes will be held at 9:30, 10 o'clock and 10:30 in the mornings. Each class will meet twice a week for nine weeks.

Class sizes are being kept small so each child will receive individual attention and instruction.

Eligible farmers may cast their ballots at the county ASC office at 505 N. Main street from 8 o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock at night on June 20.

New Industry Benefits All, Film Explains

Menasha Kiwanis Club Views Movie 'A Town Comes Alive'

Menasha — "Everyone benefits in many ways when industry comes to town."

This was pointed out in the movie "A Town Comes Alive" shown at a Menasha Kiwanis club meeting Monday night. The film is sponsored by the state division of industrial development.

In the prologue to the 25-minute film, Gov. Vernon Thomson explains the movie tells a story about a mythical Wisconsin town which realized a need for more industry and then did something about it. The governor emphasized the state government is interested in industrial expansion.

During the technicolor-sound movie it was pointed out there are four things to consider when a city contemplates bringing industry in. They are: "do you really want industry?" "get the best men," "know your town," and "promote your town."

Help Present Industry

"Industry means progress and progress assures a better way of life for everybody."

"The first thing you must do is help present industry expand and then go after new industry," it was advised in the movie.

Gym Windows To be Changed

Costs for Job at Roosevelt School Put at $1,238

Neenah — The windows on the west side of the Roosevelt school gym will be replaced with glass blocks at a cost of about $1,238, the board of education voted Monday night.

The board accepted a proposal from DeKeyser and Rasmussen, Neenah contractors, for the job which includes the replacement of all 10 windows facing First street at a cost of $1,178, and the installation of two ventilators at a cost of about $30 each.

The proposal was $46 dollars less than another proposal submitted by the P. G. Miron Construction company, Appleton.

The board deferred action on another building project, the enclosure of the bays under the high school athletic field, bleachers. The stands are to be walled off to provide storage for building and grounds equipment.

DeKeyser and Rasmussen proposed to do the job for $2,395 and Miron for $2,096. DeKeyser and Rasmussen's proposal included a $1,700 floor and Miron's included a $1,278 floor.

Earl C. Brien, superintendent of school properties, suggested that his department lay the floor and then contract for the walls and windows. Brien said the job could be done "for less than $1,000" but was ordered to make a definite estimate of the job.

The entire proposal was turned over to the board's building and grounds committee, which is made up of Arthur Plummer and Burton Spafford.

Grant Possible For Research on 'Gifted' Child

Suggested by Testing Firm to School Board

Neenah — The possibility of a grant from a philanthropic foundation to conduct a research program involving "gifted" children was voiced by Supt. of Schools Harold B. Mennes Monday evening.

Mennes told members of the board of education that such a research program would involve extensive broadening of the present program for much-brighter-than-average pupils.

The possibility of such a grant was suggested by Jack Kouth of Science Research associates, Chicago, Mennes said. Kouth has conferred with school administrators in Neenah on the gifted child program on various occasions.

Board member Arthur Plummer objected to the idea that such a study would necessarily be undertaken in cooperation with the Chicago testing firm. "Visit Other Schools"

Plummer urged that the school administrators meet with other schools with an advanced gifted children program, especially several Illinois schools, before doing anything to improve Neenah's program.

Mennes outlined a research program which would include testing recommended students in the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, and offering them special help by a special teacher to "enrich" their school program.

A test would then be given at the end of the next school year to evaluate the special help. If money is made available, Mennes said, the program might be carried through two years instead of one.

The board took no action on the proposal.

The board did, however, agree to cooperate with the guidance laboratory for superior students, sponsored by the University of Wisconsin college of engineering.

Under this plan the school will recommend a few of the incoming high school freshmen as having shown particular aptitude in engineering. The university will provide testing and counseling free of charge for the students in an effort to attract better students to the field of engineering.

Grange Works on Exchange Program

Allenville — Rehearsal for an exchange program to be put on for the Elo Grange this evening featured the meeting of the Allenville Grange Thursday evening. The grange master, Alvin Jensen, and Mrs. Jensen treated the members to refreshments and the June committee will furnish refreshments for the next meeting on June 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Marks, incoming high school freshmen as having shown particular aptitude in engineering. The university will provide testing and counseling free of charge for the students in an effort to attract better students to the field of engineering.

Cubs Pound Spahn For Five Homers In 9 to 6 Triumph

Braves Stay Half-Game Out of 1st Despite 5th Straight Loss

Chicago — Unless the Milwaukee Braves are soon able to bind together a winning streak, the National league race may develop into the same frantic scramble that existed last year before the champions pulled in front to stay late in the summer.

The astonishing Chicago Cubs hit five home runs Tuesday in handing the Braves their fifth straight defeat by a score of 9-6.

But the league-leading San Francisco Giants were beaten, 5-4, by the Pittsburgh Pirates and remained only half a game and three percentage points in front of Milwaukee.

The Cincinnati Redlegs were third, three games back, while the Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals were tied for fourth, 3½ games back, with the Pirates sixth only four games out.

In absorbing his second defeat Tuesday, Milwaukee's Warren Spahn had none of the stuff that carried him to eight victories.

Hobbie Wins

Former Brave Bobby Thomson knocked two of Spahn's tosses out of the park; Ernie Banks drilled a 3-run homer; Cal Neenan a 2-run blast, and Dale Long a solo shot over the wall.

Not all the homers were on the Chicago side as Hank Aaron unloaded a 3-run smash in the third that helped the Braves build up a 5-1 lead that disappeared as Spahn's pitches turned into gopher balls.

The victory went to Glen Hobbie who gave up only one run on six hits in the last seven innings as he worked in relief of starter Dick Trotter. Hobbie is now 4-5. Bob Trowbridge worked the eighth for Milwaukee after Spahn was lifted for a pinch-batter. He allowed the Cubs the last two of their 12 hits and their third walk as Chicago filled the bases before going out without a run scored.

Tryouts Open Friday

Senators Seek Talent For Rookie Loop Club

The Washington Senators will be seeking talent to send to their Class D Superior club in the Nebraska State (Rookie) league when they hold a tryout camp at Appleton's Goodland field Friday and Saturday.

The camp, for youths 16 through 21 years old, will be under the direction of Otto

Expect Top Players

A number of top area ball players are expected to show up for the camp, according to Fox Cities Foxes Business Manager Bob Willis. (The Foxes are the Senator's Class B farm club).

Among the prospects expected here are Hortonville's Jim Steffen and Dennis Sommers and Menasha's Clem Massey.

The Foxes will furnish balls, bats and catchers' equipment; players are to bring their own gloves and shoes.

The camps begin each morning at 9 o'clock.

20 Victories Within Reach, Friend Says

San Francisco — Pittsburgh's ace right hander Bob Friend figures he has the best chance of his career to win 20 games this season.

"I'm sure do," he declared Tuesday night after beating the National league - leading San Francisco Giants, 5-4.

"I'm just going to take them one at a time, but we've got a first division ball club this season. And if you're pitching regularly with a first division club, you should win a lot of games."

The 27-year-old, 195-pounder became the first National league pitcher to notch nine victories this young season when he went the route Tuesday

U. S. Open Begins In Tulsa Thursday

Jimmy Demaret, Snead Continue Quest for 1st Wins in Big Event

Tulsa, Okla. — There are two great golfers in the 162-man field starting the 58th U.S. Open Golf championship Thursday who never have put their names in the record books by winning the big one.

They are Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret — unquestionably two of the best in this golfing generation.

This failure doesn't mean a thing to Demaret, he says, and Snead is the man he picks to illustrate this point.

"Snead has won 100 tournaments and they're all tough," Jimmy said after shooting nine practice holes under a sweltering prairie sun. "They talk about his having a mental block about the Open. It doesn't mean a thing. They're all tough."

"I've never won the Texas open either, and I've played in it oftener than the National. I won the Masters three times but that only means I was hot for one week three times."

Lengthy Course

Snead and Demaret rate as two of the players to beat when the 72-hole grind starts Thursday over the lengthy 6,907-yard Southern Hills course.

Demaret shrugs off the fact he set an Open record of 278 at Riviera in 1948 only to have Ben Hogan come in with a 276, which still stands as an all-time record. Last year Jimmy shot 283 at Inverness, then Dick Mayer and Cary Middlecoff came in one stroke ahead.

"I'd still take that score and let any of the Open champs of the last few years shoot at it," Jimmy said.

Clarence DeMar, Famed Marathon Runner, Dies

Reading, Mass. — Clarence H. DeMar, world renowned marathon runner of other years, died at his home today. He was 70 last Saturday.

He was a 7-time winner of the Boston A.A. marathon race and was a member of three olympic teams.

His amateur athletic career spanned 44 years.

He retired from running at the age of 65. He was employed at the Herald-Traveler as a proofreader.

Celebrates Return to Active List With 5-Hit Hurling, Hits 4-Bagger; Hall, Nisewonger Also Homer

Rochester, Minn. — Rene Nodarse celebrated his release from "indefinite suspension" here Tuesday night by dealing the Rochester Athletics their first shutout loss of the Three-league season.

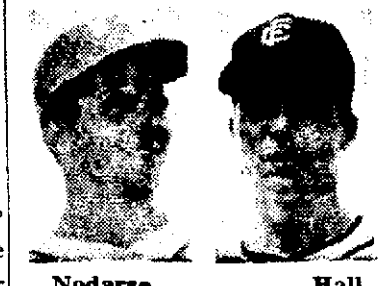

The Fox Cities' Nodarse, who was slapped with a suspension after a run-in with an umpire last Friday, permitted only five hits—all singles—and struck out nine in a 4-0 victory. The A's second homer in two days as the first batter in the fourth to round out the scoring.

Nodarse, who walked six and had two errors behind him, worked his way out of a long series of tribulations. Only in the first inning did he retire the side in order.

Nodarse's biggest challenge came in the seventh. Singles by Akers and Dave Gorrie and a walk to Jackie Brathwaite filled the bases with one out. But, Nodarse got Rick Rogers on a foul pop and struck out the clean-up hitter, Leo Posada.

Nodarse finished in a flourish by striking out three in the ninth. He fanned the first man, walked the next and struck out the final two.

Nodarse Hall

had scored in each of their first 41 games of the season.

The right-handed Nodarse embellished his performance by socking a home run—one of three round-trippers bagged by the Foxes. Jim Hall and Jim Nisewonger were the other homer hitters.

Nodarse's first route-going performance of the season was the Foxes' second shutout in their last three games. Lefty Dick Griffith blanked Davenport on two hits Sunday night.

Hits Second Homer

Rochester, which surrendered fifth place to the Foxes last night, will try to regain a tie for that position tonight behind Jerry Boxer, who gave only five hits and fanned 12 in a victory over the Foxes last week. Boxer has just been reinstated after a suspension and a fine for a curfew violation. Possible starters for the Foxes include right-hander Bert Guenther and left-hander Don Cameron.

Hall tagged starter and loser Don Pfister with a home run; his second of the season—to lead off the second.

In the third, lead-off man Nodarse hit his first homer of the campaign. Bob Tano singled but was erased in a double play. "Tex" Taylor walked and Pascual reached base on an infield error. Hall belted a triple to score Taylor, but the run carried by Pascual was nullified because Carlos failed to touch third.

Minoso's Bat Helps Cleveland Win, 10-2

White Sox Continue to Miss Minnie, Held to Split by Nats

By the Associated Press

You can tick off a number of reasons to explain why the Chicago White Sox, who finished second last season, are barely free of the American league cellar at the moment. But the No. 1 answer is the guy playing left field for Cleveland.

Without Minnie Minoso, who led Chicago with 103 runs batted in last season, the White Sox have left 399 runners stranded (an average of eight a game) while scoring only 187. Sherm Lollar is the top RBI man with 28.

Leads Cleveland A year ago, when they led the league by four games, the White Sox had scored 209, with 348 left on base and Minoso batting in 36.

Minoso hasn't been a ball of fire at Cleveland, but he's leading the club with 29 RBIs.

He added a pair Tuesday night, one with his eighth homer, as Cleveland beat Baltimore, 10-2, and moved into fourth place. The White Sox left 10 on base in a two-night doubleheader split at Washington, winning, 5-4, before a 5-2 defeat.

Other scheduled games were rained out.

Cleveland rookie Gary Bell had a 2-hit shutout for five innings and gave up only three hits in a 6-inning job for his first major league victory. The big righthander walked three, fanned five with Hoyt Wilhelm mopping up. The Indians had 14 hits off loser Connie Johnson (2-5) and three relievers and scored five in the eighth for a romp.

A pair of 4-run rallies decided things at Washington. The Senators, who got a quick lead on Roy Sievers' eleventh homer, cracked a 1-1 tie with four in the nightcap sixth against Jim Wilson (5-5). Julio Becquer's pinch single drove in one, winner Hal Griggs (3-2) brought in another on a sacrifice fly, and Herbie Plews counted two with a double. Jim Landis and Earl Battey homered for the Sox' runs.

The Sox bagged the opener with four in the seventh on Billy Goodman's 2-out, bad-hop single, Nellie Fox's RBI single and Smith's 2-run fly ball double. Ray Moore (3-1) gave up only three hits in six innings, but southpaw ace Billy Pierce had to hustle in as the third White Sox reliever to end a threat in the ninth. Truman Clevenger lost it in relief of Camilo Pascual.

Major League Stars

By The Associated Press

Pitching Bob Friend, Pirates, became the first to win nine and beat every club in the National league, giving up eight hits, walking none and striking out eight in 5-4 victory over first-place Giants.

Hitting Bobby Thomson, Cubs, rapped a pair of home runs, driving in three runs, in 9-6 victory over the Braves.

They'll Do It Every Time

Newcombe's Back Okay After He Goes 9 Innings for 1st Time

Los Angeles — Big Don Newcombe sprawled back on the bench in his dressing room cubby hole and exclaimed: "I sure would like to break into that win column."

The huge right-hander had just lost a 3-2 decision to the Phillies. But he had gone the full nine innings for the first time this season.

This was Don's fifth loss this year. He hasn't won a game since he beat the Phillies last Sept. 4 at Philadelphia.

"I felt better'n I have in a long time," Newk continued. "Little ache in my arm, but that's nothing. Main thing is my back doesn't hurt."

Newk's aching back ruined him last year, and until Tuesday night it appeared possible he would join the bullpen corps.

Newcombe surrendered 11 hits but never more than two in an inning, struck out four and yielded only one base on balls.

Newcombe had a fine night at the plate and afield. He collected three singles. And in the ninth inning he picked Phillies centerfielder Richie Ashburn off first base.

Thiel Earns Victory in Fast Game

Marion's Bert Thiel picked up his fourth victory of the season when he set down Omaha on four hits, 4-2, in the season's fastest game at Minneapolis. The contest, a night game, took just one hour and 39 minutes for nine innings.

Neither of the runs off Minneapolis pitcher Thiel were earned. He struck out four and walked none. Bert has dropped just one decision this season.

Meanwhile, Appleton's "Stu" Locklin hit .211 in the last reported stretch of games for San Diego in the Pacific Coast league. Locklin had four hits in 19 at-bats, scored four runs and batted in two.

Board Okays Probe of DA's Office, Conduct

Recommendations to Go to Supervisors; Caused by Complaints

The Outagamie county board Tuesday gave its courts and administration of justice committee approval to investigate the DA's office.

The board approved a resolution calling for a study of the procedure and problems which may arise in the DA's office and to review the conduct, duties and functions of the office to make recommendations and findings to the board. The resolution says the investigation is to be made because of complaints concerning the conduct of the office.

The committee began its investigation of Greisch's office May 21 with questioning of Appleton police and continued it on May 28. However the May 28 meeting of the committee was told by Corp. Counsel Raymond P. Dohr that county board permission was necessary for an investigation.

Appleton Eighteenth ward Supv. Sylvester Esler said the job should be done by the executive committee. "This committee will get itself in hot water

Community Fund and Council Talk Merger

Organizations Now Operating on Basis Of Partnership, Plans Still Tentative

Moves toward possible merger of the Appleton Community Fund and Appleton Community Council, now operating on a partnership basis, were discussed Tuesday noon.

Acting in an advisory capacity was Howard Studd, a field representative of Community Funds and Councils of America. He is here to make a 2 day survey of local operations.

Possible plans for the merger were revealed by Harwood Orbison who noted a joint executive committee already has been formed and a program aimed at evaluating the two organization's activities is being developed.

Consider Structure

Bruce Purdy chairman of the joint committee, noted his group is considering the type of organizational structure such a merger would necessitate. He stated five divisions of operations are being considered: research, planning to meet needs; admission, budgets and administration, annual campaign and public relations.

"If the merger is effected, we hope to reduce the amount of duplication of activities by lay leadership and hope for a better organization and cooperation between agencies," Purdy explained.

Studd, after lauding Appleton for its "dedicated core of volunteer leadership" noted many communities are going through an evaluation of central services such as the Fund and Council.

"When Community Funds and Chests were formed, the primary purpose was to combine campaigns," he explained in giving a history of the movement. "Soon a greater responsibility was determined—to see that the money raised was used as effectively as possible. From this, the councils grew. The job of relating the money to community needs was found to be as vital as raising the money itself."

Councils now underwent a change as membership expanded to service clubs, labor organizations, church groups and other organizations who conducted or supported welfare programs, Studd went on.

He stated volunteer membership, leadership and planning was of utmost importance with the professional social worker acting in the capacity of an advisor.

Studd also suggested a forum or conference arrangement might be established to provide professional and lay leaders the opportunity to talk over programs, submit ideas and air problems.

Although community funds may collect only 10 per cent of welfare money used in an area it is important they know what public agencies are doing, Studd contended. This would eliminate duplication between private and public agencies, he explained.

study on the prevention and problems. A number of services control of juvenile delinquency would be set up and the community would be asked to contribute.

The county has been asked to provide $25,000 to start off. Appleton organizations have the center. Most of the money backed this area for the study. However, the state legislature appropriated $42,000 instead of $200,000 the state department of welfare asked. ## Airplanes Will Guide Guard To Camp McCoy

32nd Division Units Leave Saturday for Summer Training

Aerial traffic police will help guide convoys of the 32nd Infantry division, Wisconsin National Guard, — including two companies from Appleton — to Camp McCoy Saturday for their annual 2-week summer training period.

The army airplanes will watch movement of convoys toward the camp and radio traffic instructions to vehicles with radios, according to Chief Warrant Officer George G. Kerigan, administrative officer of Appleton's Company A, 426th Infantry regiment.

Military policemen stationed on the ground will aid the aircraft in directing traffic. Kerigan stated.

First Week

More than 10,000 guardsmen will train at McCoy, he said. Company A and Company D, 127 Infantry regiment, also of Appleton, will send 300 men to camp this year.

The guardsmen will depart from the E. College armory at 7 o'clock Saturday morning. Members of the advance party will leave Thursday morning to deliver heavy equipment to camp and make preparations for arrival of the main force.

During the first week of training the guardsmen will fire all infantry weapons — including recoilless rifles, mortars, machine guns, rocket launchers and the M1 rifle. Guard officials also hope to familiarize the men with artillery weapons during first week.

Second week of training will find the Appleton men joining other division units for field training problems on a 4-day bivouac. The troops will return home June 28.

Capt. Donn J. Garrigan commands Company A. His executive officer is Lt. Frederick Kufura. The Platoon leaders are Lt. Richard Haviland, George Meyers, Richard Klim and Ronald Wichman.

Two Property Owners Given Concessions By Appeals Board

The board of building appeals has granted concessions from city building ordinances to Robert J. Bertrand, 1400 N. Appleton street, and Marvin C. Zuleger, 162 S. Victoria street.

Bertrand was given permission to remodel his garage. It is two feet from the lot line inside the 70-foot front setback requirement.

Zuleger was given permission to build a basement under his home within 10 feet of the sidewalk line.

Board members felt, Building Inspector Walter Bogan said, that the concession to Bertrand would hurt no one. Zuleger, he said, has a lot which is only 50 feet deep, including giving him grounds for an appeal, the board believed.

Red Diplomat Didn't Tell Truth on Show

Censorship Exists
In Russia Despite
Menshikov's Denial

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, didn't tell the truth to a nationwide television audience on "Meet the Press" Sunday. He said that there is no censorship of the news dispatches sent out from Moscow by correspondents for foreign newspapers.

Lawrence

The Soviet envoy also repeated his innuendo that the United States government wants war whereas the American people do not.

Here is the question as asked by Clifton Daniel of the New York Times, son-in-law of former President Truman:

"Why is it that the Soviet Union is the only major power left in the world today that still has a press censorship of news dispatches leaving the country? Why do you feel that is necessary?"

The Soviet ambassador made this amazing answer: "Well, I don't think there is such a censorship as you refer to. I simply do not know the details of what the procedure is regarding dispatches, their uses and so on, but so far as I know, all of the foreign correspondents that are accredited there

In our country, they are free to send their dispatches, and different news and all that sort of thing."

Had Experience

But Mr. Daniel, who has had first-hand experience with the censorship in Moscow, replied: "I am sorry to tell you, sir, that having been a correspondent there, I can tell you that is not the case. I think you must have been misinformed. Every dispatch that leaves the Soviet Union from a regularly accredited correspondent is submitted to censorship. The name in Russian is called 'glavlit.' I am sure you have heard of it."

"Ambassador Menshikov: Have your dispatches abroad been sent?"

"Mr. Daniel: My dispatches were sent but my dispatches were quite often edited, shall we say, by the censor."

Ambassador Menshikov: Therefore, I understand all news that you want to send outside of our country, they actually went outside?"

"Mr. Daniel: Not all. 'Ambassador Menshikov: Well, I don't know.'"

Believe Each Other

Later the ambassador was asked how, if an agreement was made to suspend nuclear tests, the American people could trust the Soviets because they had already violated the armistice agreement in Korea. But Menshikov denied this and said: "I think we should believe each other—that is the only way."

Evidently the Soviet ambassador thinks that what he says over the television networks must be accepted as truth despite evidence to the contrary.

This correspondent last week wrote a dispatch calling attention to the Soviet envoy's statements on June 2 over the radio network of the Mutual Broadcasting company. Menshikov had declared, in effect, that, while the American people don't want war, he wasn't so sure about the attitude of the government of the United

A $1,700 check, partial payment toward a $10,000 pledge for Appleton Memorial hospital, has been donated by Welcome Wagon groups. Mrs. Harold Ornstein, left, receives the check for the hospital from, from left, Mrs. Sam Bond, Civic league president, Mrs. A. D. Cowan, a past president, and Mrs. James Curry, Newcomers president. States. What the ambassador said in casting doubt on the intentions and sincerity of American government officials—it was stated in these dispatches—would under past precedents result in his being declared "persona non grata" by the state department. This means that, when an ambassador is no longer acceptable as a person, he is asked to leave the country so another ambassador can be sent to replace him.

Bad Impression

Ambassador Menshikov has just been given an opportunity to repudiate or correct the bad impression left by his previous statement over the Mutual network. Here is the question asked by John Hightower of the Associated press and here also is the ambassador's avoidance of an answer:

"Mr. Hightower: There has been some question about a comment of yours some days ago as to whether you think the

Library Resumes Story Hours

Children's story hours will be resumed this week in the children's room of the Appleton public library. One hour will be held each week, at 2 o'clock each Thursday afternoon, during the summer.

The regular schedule of two hours each week will begin in fall.

Miss Janet Meili, children's librarian, will tell "The Little Engine Who Could," "Curious George Takes a Job," "Thidwick the Big-Hearted Moose" and "The Little Old Woman Who Used Her Head" during Thursday's session.

United States government wants to avoid war. What do you think?

"A m b a s a d o r Menshikov: Well, I should say you better not ask me such questions. Otherwise my 'friend'—in brackets—David Lawrence, will again declare me persona grata."

The Soviet envoy evidently thinks he can ignore the truth in his television appearances and continue to try to mislead the American people.

Dave Garraway Believes Jazz Getting More Attention on TV

BY DAVE GARRAWAY

New York —(A—) There's a growing trend on television this season to pay more attention to jazz because it reflects the kind of culture in which we live—its growing tensions, anxieties, pace.

In the past decade, jazz has come a long way. Proof is the growth of jazz festivals, album sales, concerts, and hi-fi sales, as well as the night clubs specializing in jazz. Jazz is becoming respectable.

A couple of years ago, saying you liked jazz could brand you as semidelinquent. The word "jazz" had a pretty miserable connotation. Now, things have changed naturally, and jazz is becoming a product for home consumption.

Partly ignorance. The growing trend toward jazz on TV was boosted last year when "Seven Lively Arts" presented a superb 90-minute special called "The Sound of Jazz." There have been several other good ones since. For instance, on April 9, NBC-TV hope of swinging America paid tribute to jazz with "Swing around to hearing good jazz into Spring," a musical show-TV will undoubtedly yield more interesting Benny Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald and Harry James.

Despite its growing popularity on TV, America's ear isn't yet tuned to jazz—completely. Blame, if you must, the fact that many people don't really know what jazz is. Some think it's interchangeable with rock 'n' roll, not having heard it. They don't understand it, and so they're afraid of it, because it's only natural to fear something you don't understand.

And, of course, the American people have had too much bad jazz—jazz that's cheap, vulgar, dull. Non-jazz listeners sometimes insist jazz is just noise. In some cases, I can't say I blame them. Bad jazz is just noise.

For the people who think jazz is interchangeable with rock 'n' roll, let me say this. Rock 'n' roll is a vulgarization and a decadent product. It is cheapening of the old blues, which were sometimes raw, but never vulgar and cheap. What harms kids in this trash, I think, is not the beat—there is nothing evil in the music itself. What does the harm are certain words, "Jazz." There have been several other good ones since. # Red Diplomat Didn't Tell Truth on Show

Menshikov's Denial

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Mikhail Menshikov, the Soviet ambassador to the United States, didn't tell the truth to a nationwide television audience on "Meet the Press" Sunday. He said that there is no censorship of the news dispatches sent out from Moscow by correspondents for foreign newspapers.

Lawrence

The Soviet envoy also repeated his innuendo that the United States government wants war, whereas the American people do not.

Here is the question as asked by Clifton Daniel of the New York Times, son-in-law of former President Truman:

"Why is it that the Soviet Union is the only major power left in the world today that still has a press censorship of news dispatches leaving the country? Why do you feel that is necessary?"

The Soviet ambassador made this amazing answer: "Well, I don't think there is such a censorship as you refer to. I simply do not know the details of what the procedure is regarding dispatches, their uses and so on, but so far as I know, all of the foreign correspondents that are accredited there in our country, they freely send their dispatches, and different news and all that sort of thing."

Had Experience

But Mr. Daniel, who has had first-hand experience with the censorship in Moscow, replied: "I am sorry to tell you, sir, that having been a correspondent there, I can tell you that is not the case. I think you must have been misinformed. Every dispatch that leaves the Soviet Union from a regularly accredited correspondent is submitted to censorship. The name in Russian is called 'glavlit.' I am sure you have heard of it."

"Ambassador Menshikov: Have your dispatches abroad been sent?"

"Mr. Daniel: My dispatches were sent but my dispatches were quite often edited, shall we say, by the censor."

Ambassador Menshikov: Therefore, I understand all news that you want to send outside of our country, they actually went outside?"

"Mr. Daniel: Not all."

Believe Each Other

Later the ambassador was asked how, if an agreement was made to suspend nuclear tests, the American people could trust the Soviets because they had already violated the armistice agreement in Korea. But Menshikov denied this and said:

"I think we should believe each other—that is the only way."

Evidently the Soviet ambassador thinks that what he says over the television networks must be accepted as truth despite evidence to the contrary.

This correspondent last week wrote a dispatch calling attention to the Soviet envoy's statements on June 2 over the radio network of the Mutual Broadcasting company. Menshikov had declared, in effect, that while the American people don't want war, he wasn't so sure about the attitude of the government of the United States. What the ambassador said in casting doubt on the intentions and sincerity of American government officials—it was stated in these dispatches—would under past precedents result in his being declared "persona non grata" by the state department. This means that, when an ambassador is no longer acceptable as a person, he is asked to leave the country so another ambassador can be sent to replace him.

Bad Impression

Ambassador Menshikov has just been given an opportunity to repudiate or correct the bad impression left by his previous statement over the Mutual network. Here is the question asked by John Hightower of the Associated press and here also is the ambassador's avoidance of an answer:

"Mr. Hightower: There has been some question about a comment of yours some days ago as to whether you think the

Library Resumes Story Hours

The regular schedule of two hours each week will begin in fall.

Miss Janet Meili, children's librarian, will tell "The Little Engine Who Could," "Curious George Takes a Job," "Thidwick the Big-Hearted Moose" and "The Little Old Woman Who Used Her Head" during Thursday's session.

United States government wants to avoid war. What do you think?

"Ambassador Menshikov: Well, I should say you better not ask me such questions. Otherwise my 'friend'—in brackets—David Lawrence, will again declare me persona grata."

Mentally Ill Get Their Case in Court

The Wisconsin Supreme Court has agreed to study requests by four counties that it take original jurisdiction in a controversy over the method followed by the state in paying its share of the cost of care for chronically ill patients in county mental hospitals. Under the law the state is required to pay half of the "actual average per capita cost" of caring for such patients. The state has been advised that this must be the average cost in all 36 county mental institutions.

There is a great variation in the per capita cost, ranging from $31.72 per week in Milwaukee county down to $8.77 in Grant county. The average cost in 1957 was $18.71. The state thus paid each county $9.35 per week for each chronically ill patient. Milwaukee county receives less than half of its cost, by $6.50 per week per patient, while Grant county receives more than 100 per cent of its costs instead of the half it is entitled to get. Twenty-four counties have average costs of less than $18.71 per week, and thus receive from the state more than half their costs.

The complaining counties charge that the 24 low-cost counties make a profit on their institutions. They claim the state method of payment to the counties puts a premium on "low grade and less costly care." and penalizes counties providing "high-grade, expensive care."

James H. McDermott, assistant attorney general, in opposing the petition calls the claim of profits by the petitioners "unfounded and unwarranted." He says there is an assumption that more costly services represent better care and is therefore more desirable, an assumption he says is open to question.

McDermott is right, of course. There has been nothing beyond the mere assertion of the complaining counties that the care elsewhere in the low-cost institutions is inferior. Dane county is not a party to this suit, but it has the relatively high average cost of $22.22 per capita. When it has more mental patients than it is able to house in its county hospital, it sends some of them to Grant county which has the record low cost. Would Dane county people accept such care for some of their patients if the contrast in care were as great as the petitioners imply?

No matter what the court decides in this case, the question of the standard of care for the chronically insane in county institutions has been raised and a way should be found to get an answer to it. No county should be permitted to make a profit by providing inferior care for the mentally ill, yet no county should be encouraged to waste state funds provided for this purpose.

Pat Boone, Bachelor of Science

In the theatrical world, which all too often seems to bring out in people a tendency to trip down the soft rose-strewn path, Pat Boone has set a refreshing example. Despite his skyrocket zoom to fame and fortune, despite marriage and a growing family, he has continued his studies at Columbia University and graduates this week magna cum laude.

Singer Boone has pointed to the instability and insecurity of his field as one reason he kept up his studies, although it meant studying early mornings and late nights. He has mentioned that he has always wanted to teach and there are certainly few schools in the country that wouldn't find him a place on the faculty. Certainly the drive for learning also must have played a part in his determination.

But he also hoped to set some sort of an example for his teen-age fans who drop out of school because a job and money offers what appears to be a simpler solution to life. Here he has realized a responsibility that many people in public life refuse to acknowledge on the grounds that their private lives are their own. Privacy is certainly a right of any individual who breaks no laws, yet those who owe their fame and financial success to the plaudits of the crowd also must, by the simple matter of give and take, owe a decent example to the crowd. This is especially true of those who appeal to the youngsters.

Perhaps Pat Boone's own four young daughters and his wife gave him the real inspiration to combine his rich career with the hard work of finishing his college studies.

High Court's New Labor Rulings

Just when it seemed that the federal government had taken over jurisdiction in labor cases involving interstate commerce, the United States Supreme Court has handed down two decisions which acknowledge the jurisdiction of state courts. The decisions have caused surprise among attorneys, employers, government officials and some concern among labor leaders.

In one case an employee of a copper company in Decatur, Ala., testified in state court that he had been prevented from going to work by a picket line thrown around the plant when it was struck by the United Auto Workers. He had attempted to drive his car through the line but was stopped. There was evidence that someone had shouted a threat to overturn his car. He claimed a loss of $500 in wages. The jury in the state court allowed him that and additional punitive damages of $9,500.

The Supreme Court, in a six to two decision, upheld the verdict. Justice Burton, who wrote the majority decision, assumed that the act was in violation of the Taft-Hartley act and noted that the National Labor Relations Board has authority to award back pay in such cases. But, he said, the fact that both the NLRB and the state court had authority to compensate the worker for his loss does not indicate a conflict in which state laws must fall. Rather, he said, they are complementary. "An employee's right to recover, in the state courts, all damages caused him by this kind of tortious conduct cannot be fairly said to be preempted without a clearer declaration of congressional policy," he wrote.

Chief Justice Warren wrote a dissenting opinion for himself and Justice William O. Douglas. Justice Hugo L. Black took no part in the case. The chief justice argued that the Taft-Hartley act is an attempt to balance the competing interests of employee, union and management and that by providing additional remedies the states may upset that balance.

Chief Justice Warren pointed out that as a result of the decision "there is a very real prospect of staggering punitive damages" being assessed against unions because of ill-advised conduct on the picket lines. While that argument may be a little difficult to follow as a reason for deciding against an injured party, it does point to the reasons many people are predicting less violence on the picket lines.

In another case a California worker, who was expelled from the International Association of Machinists, brought suit for lost wages and punitive damages. He testified that he had been prevented from getting work through the union hiring hall, which is an unfair labor practice under the Taft-Hartley act. Justice Frankfurter wrote the decision in this case for the same majority. Again Justices Warren and Douglas dissented. Justice Frankfurter said that the "potential conflict" between state and federal authorities was "too contingent, too remotely related to the public interest expressed in the Taft-Hartley act to justify depriving state courts of jurisdiction to vindicate the personal rights of an ousted union member."

These decisions may prove of vast importance in eliminating violence in strikes. Chief Justice Warren's warning that diverse state damage laws and diverse attitudes of local juries are opposed to the idea of uniform federal law, is quite true. But that is the situation in all cases tried in state courts, and there has been no great objection to it

Bullheads and Boyhood

The state conservation commission's callous blow at the bullhead, that well-loved member of the piscatorial society, has not passed without a nostalgic twinge among the men of today.

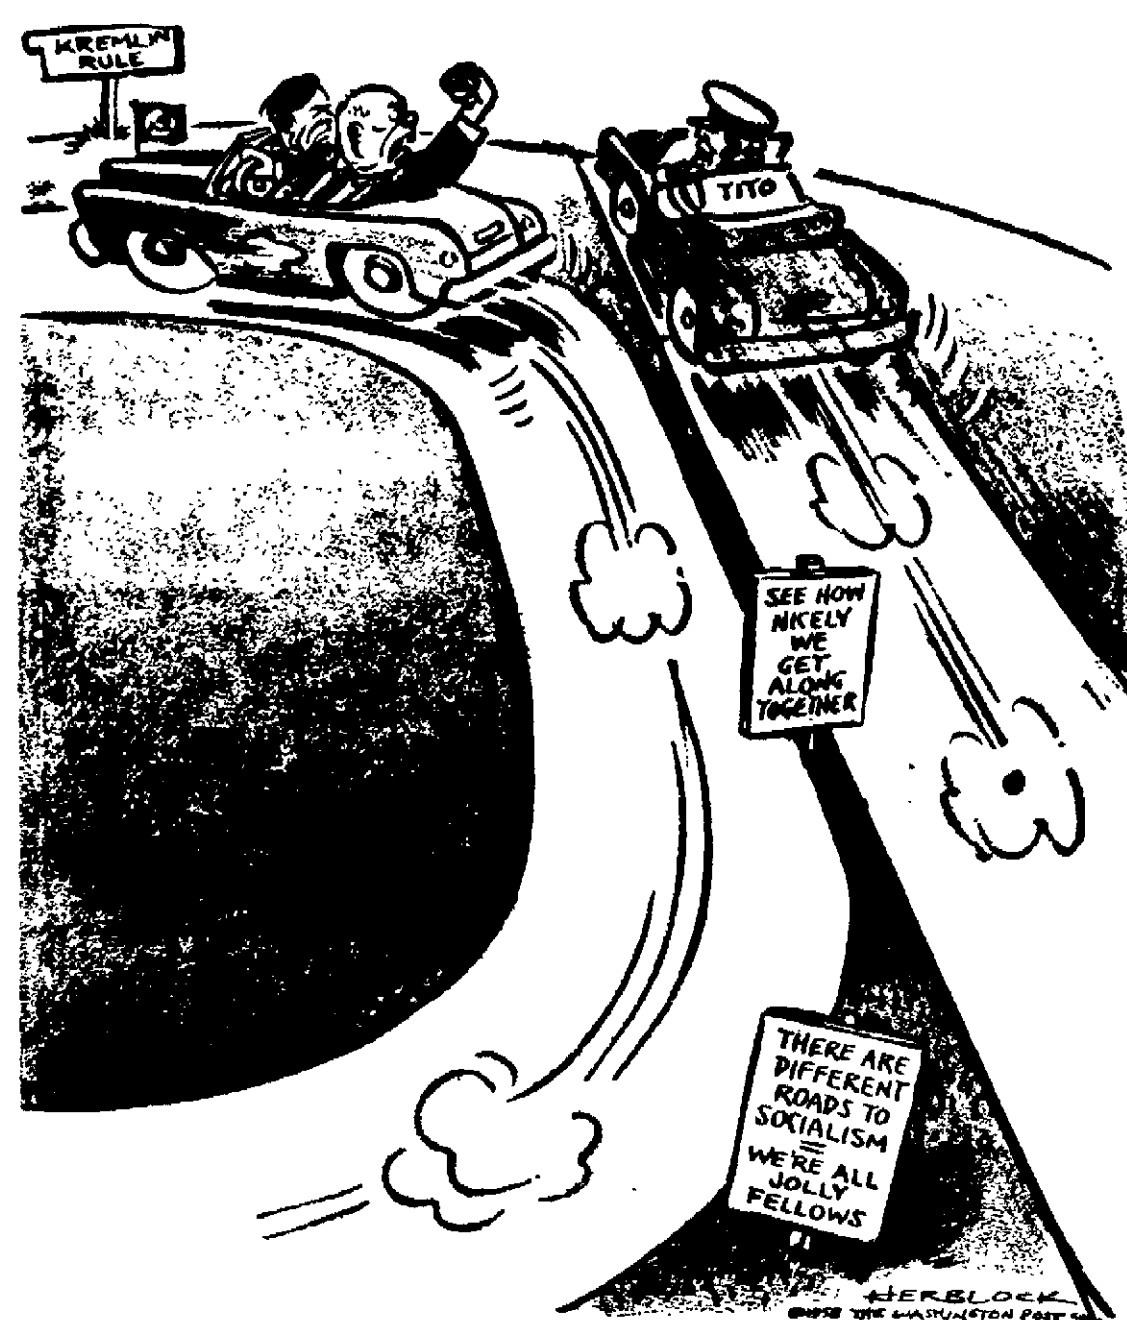

For those who are not yet too ancient to recall the summertimes of their young-est years, the bullhead is a trigger of memory, even as is the heavenly fragrance of the newly mown meadow, corn silk in the fall or the first thin pond ice of winter.

Is it possible that this easy prey of the young boy, this proud first trophy handed to tolerant mothers, is actually becoming so abundant as to require the radical cure of commercial netting in some of our rivers and lakes, as the commission now suggests?

This creature is homely to the point of ugliness. It dresses only with difficulty. It is not spothing in the sense that the burly bass and the leonine pike provide sporting thrills. Perhaps even the succulence of its flavor is a trick of the recollection — for mother now says she employed various and ingenious circumlocutions to avoid putting this bounty of long ago into the dinner pan.

Yet it stands almost alone, etched in the pleasurable recollections of thousands of boys grown into men, the first wonderful manifestation of the fertile reward of nature to the hunter.

Idea of Moral Foreign Policy Described as 'Idealistic Nonsense'

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I was pleasantly surprised to note that the Post-Crescent had a few kind words for Sen. Proxmire in its editorial dealing with American foreign policy vis a vis dictators. Unfortunately, your editorial writer picked the wrong occasion to shower words of praise on Wisconsin's junior senator. Sen. Proxmire deserves commendation for his championship of the interests of the farmer, the working man, the small business man, and education. On the other hand, most discerning people will agree that Sen. Proxmire's contention that morality should be the basis of American foreign policy is idealistic nonsense.

If we accept the premise that the best interests of the United States should be the primary concern of those people charged with the responsibility of formulating American foreign policy, it cannot be argued that morality should guide our policy makers in their efforts to prevent a thermo-nuclear war. A case might be made for morality in specific instances where it can be shown that a morally good policy will serve the best interests of the American people. In these instances, however, expediency is still guiding American foreign policy.

The primary threat to the well-being and security of the American people in 1958 obviously comes from the Soviet Union. Is it reasonable to expect persons responsible for coping with this threat to deny themselves certain means by which this threat can be negated because these means do not measure up to American conceptions of right and wrong? In international relations it would be suicidal folly for any statesman to weaken his nation materially for considerations of sentiment and morality.

During World War II, Winston Churchill once remarked that he would find a few kind words for the devil if Hitler invaded hell. These remarks were made in answer to criticism of Churchill because he had the temerity to welcome Joe Stalin as an ally against the number one enemy of western civilization in 1941 which happened to be the Nazi dictator. Churchill recognized the expediency of dealing with one international menace at a time. After the Soviet Union ceases to be a menace to contemporary civilization, perhaps we can then worry about the little dictators plaguing the world. Until that time arrives, the best we can do is to court the dictators who will serve as instruments of American foreign policy.

During the American revolution, George Washington did not spurn the support of the French monarchy because Louis XVI despised the liberal ideals for which Washington and his colleagues were fighting. Abraham Lincoln was comforted by the thought that Tsarist Russia might serve as an ally against England when it appeared as though England might intervene directly in the Civil war on behalf of the Confederacy. Franklin D. Roosevelt didn't hesitate to deal with Franco and the Vichy government of France during World War II when Spanish policy and Vichy policy could have seriously interfered with our primary objective which was to defeat Germany.

In the conduct of foreign relations, Americans need a Machiavelli as secretary of state. A real Machiavelli probably could have turned Red China against the Soviet Union at a time when this was possible. An efficient Machiavelli will exploit all differences between the Soviet Union and her satellites thereby scoring gains on behalf of civilization. Any

Rogers' Mill Has Paper Machine

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 14, 1879.

Mr. H. J. Rogers is one of those ever unsatisfied business men who are of incalculable benefit to a city. He is constantly enlarging and improving the mill property he manages so well and shortly it will be difficult to find the original building he first commenced work in.

During the present spring he has added a large building and put in a 90-inch Fourdiner paper machine. It turns out an immense sheet in size — nearly eight feet wide — correspondingly increasing the capacity of the mill, which even with this facility, has been compelled to run nights and Sundays a part of the time to try to fill orders.

Mr. Thos. O'Keefe and his sons have done most of the joiner and wheelwright work. Mr. Todd, the mill foreman, is an expert in superintending and running the mill and much of the success attending it is due to his intelligence and practicality.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, June 7, 1933

Two Appleton manufacturing firms had exhibits at the Century of Progress Exposition at Chicago. They were the Tuttle Press and the Fox River Paper company. Both had cabinet displays in the paper division of the General Exhibits Building.

Miss Minnie Bilter was designated an official agent for the Appleton district of the Methodist church for the Church Housing commission which was working in cooperation with the Visitors' Tourist Service Inc. to protect the general public from exorbitant prices and to assure church visitors to the Century of Progress in Chicago that summer of good rooms in accredited homes.

The efforts being made by Mayor Goodland to secure the use of the old postoffice building at the corner of N. Oneida and Washington streets for a public library building were explained to the library board by Miss Florence Day, librarian.

Pay for Jobless Makes Politicians Brothers

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Gov. Thomson is more likely to win a quick approval of his proposal for an extension of the duration of state unemployment compensation payments than for his compulsory proposition to increase the maximum benefit.

The first reactions of the Republican legislators with whom he consulted at the executive residence a few days ago in preparation for the special legislative session were cool indeed to the idea tentatively advanced that maximum payments should be raised from $38 to $42.

The legislators from the larger cities, where there is some unemployment and wage scales and living costs tend to be higher, embraced the idea enthusiastically. It would give them a solid new argument in their reelection campaigns, as they promptly recognized.

But $42 a week for somebody who is not working appears to be a pretty handsome figure to some of the rural and small town representatives — many of whom represent workmen who do not get much more than that for full-time employment. It is not yet clear what the showing of hands meant — roll calls sometimes change positions — but the first test of sentiment showed a significant hostility to the governor's plan.

MEANING

should amount to about half of the regular pay of the laid off workman. Originally the state system was so arranged, but there has been a deviation over the year so that during the last decade of steady wage advances under the impetus of inflation the scale of compensation benefits has lagged somewhat.

Opponents to the idea of 50 per cent indemnity make several points, aside from their general conservatism on the question. Some workmen are getting supplemental compensation from their own employers, under their private contracts, for one thing. Moreover, the higher the scale is pushed the more severe will the disparity be with the state's existing minimum wage laws. Some employer representatives were making the point in the 1957 legislature, when benefits were increased by two dollars, that there is a certain implausibility in a system that pays a man more for not working than the state has held out as the legal minimum for the employed.

A political difficulty inherent in the proposal by the Republican state administration for a more liberal ceiling on payments is that the CIO and the Democrats tend to aim their own shots according to the position taken by the Republicans. The $42 level now proposed by the GOP, for example, was the goal of the CIO lobby only a year ago. Now it can be forecast with certainty that the CIO and its political friends will shoot considerably beyond that as they offer amendments to the administration program during the next few days.

THE POLITICS

Notwithstanding all these things, the realistic outlook is for a quick approval by the legislature of the blueprint for higher and longer lasting payments as drawn by the governor.

Some of the rural conservatives will grumble in the caucus, and perhaps on the floor, but the roll calls will show the necessary majorities.

This is a campaign year, and every nervous legislator is keenly sensitive to the task of making friends and influencing people.

There will be a heavy flavor of irony, moreover, as the majority party spokesmen put out the argument that some $10 millions or $12 millions of state money can be paid out above the normal levels — without any cost to anybody.

That's the kind of thing that is scorned when a Democrat such as Sen. Proxmire does it. It shows, perhaps, that the anxiety for votes makes all of these politicians brothers under the skin.

Western Railway company inaugurated diesel powered freight service through Appleton that day.

Charles Buchanan, Appleton, received the rector's silver letter for high honors in chemistry and a speaking award at Shattuck School.

Dr. Walter A. Grossman was elected president of the Outagamie county Dental society. He succeeded Dr. S. L. Chudacoff. Dr. Edward A. Rydell was elected vice president and Dr. John E. LeFevre, secretary and treasurer.

Neenah citizens again were indebted to Mrs. Helen Kimberly Stuart for the gift of additional picnic and parking facilities at Kimberly Point park, the city park and recreation commission announced.

Gore Might Break South's Tradition

As Border State Candidate, He Wouldn't be Happiest Selection

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — If fortune ever should put Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee into one of those smoke-filled hotel rooms where presidential candidates sometimes are made, what would happen? First of all, Gore would open the windows to banish the odor of cigars. Then he would raise the blinds all the way up. And if a bottle of liquor happened to be lying about, it would at once be cast away.

Gore is a slight, non-cussin', non-smokin', non-drinkin' politician. (The ending "g" on any word is nonexistent to him.) He looks like a collar ad. And he is about 10 times as tough as he looks.

His total sobriety in the highly convivial profession of politics probably is an asset in Tennessee, which has a strong temperance sentiment.

Gore, for his part, reached the senate—via previous service in the house of representatives—as an anti-machine candidate. A touch of the reformer has been about him ever since. This aura, like his abstention from strong drink, does not go down so well with the politicians generally as it does with his Tennessee constituents.

Much Ability
The senator is an apt illustration of the rather careless way in which life distributes its boons and shortcomings.

He has a great deal of ability along with his earnestness but is rather short of that casual touch so helpful in his trade.

He is a member of a more or less liberal movement in the south. And he probably typifies the kind of politician who will be required if the Democratic party in that section is ever to become a positive rather than a largely negative influence within the national organization.

He is among those southerners, for example, who honestly wish to ease the segregation issue. He will go to some length — and run considerable political danger — in the cause of promoting Negro rights and privileges.

He is a man, moreover, ready and willing to occupy himself seriously with serious issues. He seeks no free ride on phony issues that are mainly for headline purposes. He works his passage by real study and energy.

Might Break Tradition

It is probable he thinks of himself as the sort of politician who will at some time lead the south away from its traditional sectionalism. Such an eventuality — and such a man — might also break the old tradition that a southerner cannot be elected president.

But Tennessee was never all-southern — not during the Civil war and not since. It was a bitterly divided border state in the last century and politically it is a border state still. If a Tennessean should return one day to the White House to vindicate the memory of that state's Andrew Johnson in that office, this would not necessarily mean an end to the national apathetic of the deep south.

For such a border state candidate — Gore specifically in the present discussion — would never be a happy choice of the deep southerners. They might take him as a matter of expediency, but he could never really reflect their views. (Copyright, 1958)

New York (A)—Inventories are being watched more closely than ever today for a sign of a turnaround in business. This is because the varied trends in other factors that could start recovery — consumer spending, government purchases, business outlay for capital goods — seem to be jelling.

hope that the slight decline in consumer spending is at an end, that business can now count on a fairly level flow of consumer cash and credit.

Business spending for plant and equipment, while still high, is well below record 1957 and the businessmen indicate there is little chance of any pickup here before next year. So that off the spur to the economy, it seems, slump. Many hold that when that spur may be tardy too.

Spending for inventory is another matter — and one of the things that many businessmen admit they are the least certain how to handle.

The policy of sharply reducing stocks, coupled with the drop in capital goods outlays, has been credited with kicking the present industrial slump. Many hold that when must wait.

Government spending slowly but surely will increase and take up much of the gap. But that spur may be tardy too.

the bottom in inventory paring is reached the way will be open for solid, if slow, recovery.

Foreign turmoil as well as local recession can play a part in some inventory policies. Prices of many metals, rubber, oil, fibers and grains have been affected in the past by overseas upheavals — and a hint of more trouble could cause some industries to build up their supplies rather than go on cutting them.

is watching more closely right now is the evidence that final purchases of goods — mostly by consumers but a part by business — have been running higher than output of goods. In time this means that inventory piling must stop and industrial output turn upward. In fact, the steady increase in recent weeks in steel output is being credited both to the end of inventory cutting by customers and the urge to beat any price hike July 1. Inventories play another big role in business. On average, they tie up nearly 30 per cent of the working capital of most firms.

How management handles inventory aroused the curiosity of the national industrial conference board. So it asked more than 100 firms about their policies and reports that many of them haven't solved that problem yet.

Even where progress has been made, the board reports, management in general is dissatisfied with its control over inventories.

It finds a general lack of guiding principles upon which executives can base their day to day inventory decisions. And only a few of the 100 view inventories as a positive factor.

Highly significant in the made through proper management rather than merely as something on which losses should be avoided when possible.

Three major problems are sighted.

1. The heavy investment burden — trade and industry inventories during 1957 were valued at $90 billion.
2. Inventory and output changes in most firms lag behind changes in sales volume.
3. Failure to provide an inventory control program looking beyond current sales can result in a whole year's profits being wiped out in a single advertising blunder.

Coeds may not be unusual in the classes of Herbert C. Dohrman, associate professor of audio-visual education at Wisconsin State college, Oshkosh, but having one of them his own daughter certainly is.

When Diantha Dohrman reached senior status this year she decided it was now or never if she wanted to study under her professor father. So she chose a course to her liking and enrolled in it, making it one of her elective studies.

Miss Dohrman will graduate from the college this month as one of three highest ranking honor students, an accomplishment reached before she received her grade from papa's course.

Thirty years ago, another feminine student took the professor's course and later became Mrs. Dohrman. The Dohrmans live at 765 Elmwood avenue, Oshkosh.

Sections of Two Streets Closed

Sections of two city streets were closed Monday as sewer work was started on them, Public Works Engineer Henry Crowe said.

N. Ballard road from E. Marquette street to Highway 41 was closed to permit Charles A. Green and Son, Inc., to install a sanitary sewer. The street will be closed about a week.

N. Charlotte street from E. Wisconsin avenue to E. Randall avenue was closed to permit Lloyd Kispert and Son, Green Bay, to install a storm sewer. The street will be closed about four days.

The engineer's office reported today that while N. Richmond street is being kept open to traffic during reconstruction work, contractors are having trouble north of W. Glendale avenue.

The contractors are having trouble, it was said, staying off

Farm Family's Feud Over TVA Motivates New Novel by Deal

BY JEAN WILEY THICKENS

(Dunbar's Cove," by Borden Deal. Published by Scribner's, $4.50.)

For readers who enjoy the rather simple, down to earth type of novel, "Dunbar's Cove" should hold a special appeal.

It is a story about a Tennessee family which has owned and operated a large farm in the hill country along the Tennessee River for many generations. It was peaceful living there, far from metropolitan life, with only themselves and neighboring farmers for company. Although the time of the book is only about 20 years ago it could as easily be a century ago. The methods of farming and housekeeping in that isolated section of Tennessee had changed little in the intervening years.

Matthew Dunbar, widowed for many years, is head of the family, and in the Cove that really meant head. Arlie, the eldest daughter, is a lovely 18-year-old mountain maid, a good housekeeper and a mother to her younger sister and her old-er brothers.

The Cove is home for the Dunbar family for they have never known any other. With Matthew and daughter Arlie, lives "Miss Hattie," Arlie's 12-year-old sister and three brothers, Jesse John, Knox and Rice, all of whom work daily to cultivate the land and try to out-produce their neighbors. The house is big and rambling and stands on land that the first Dunbar took from the Indians 130 years ago.

This peaceful atmosphere was suddenly disturbed and disrupted when the Tennessee Valley authority invaded this quiet area to build a dam down there, far from metropolitan life, with only themselves and neighboring farmers for company. Although the time of the book is only about 20 years ago it could as easily be a century ago. The methods of farming and housekeeping in that isolated section of Tennessee had changed little in the intervening years.

That is how trouble gener-ated for the Dunbar clan. When the federal govern-ment sent young Crawford to acquire the land for TVA a feud started between Matthew and the government.

At the same time a tender romance blossomed between Arlie and Crawford.

The two men admired each other but because Crawford represented a force that was attempting to drive him from his ancestral acres Matthew forbade him calling on Arlie. This meant clandestine meetings each night after working hours. Although Arlie obeyed her father in the matter of allowing Crawford to visit her at home, she was equally determined that nothing interfere with their daily meetings after the day's work was completed.

Characterization Good

The characterizations in the novel are exceptionally well done, one feels intimately acquainted with sturdy old Matthew who is hard working, upright and loyal but stubborn as an elderly goat. Jesse John becomes bored with work from dawn to dusk, unrelieved by any recreation and leaves the farm to seek a job in the city. This defection is followed by Matthew's second son Knox. He too finds that "all work and no play" makes life a dull business and he also departs, leaving only a note behind telling Matthew of his intentions. The character of "Miss Hattie," scrawny, spindly shanked, with restless spirit and an ambition to make something of herself, is an especially appealing figure. Lovely Arlie, whose loyalties are torn between the father whom she admires and the suitor whom

Assemblymen of God Too Noisy for Neighbors

Mount Clemens, Mich. —

Three tabernacle men must stand trial on neighbors' complaints over cymbal clanging and horn blowing.

The Rev. David Norcross, 30, of Bethany Tabernacle Assembly of God, and James W. Weaver, 22, and Roy L. Weaver, 25, tabernacle evangelists, are charged with disorderly conduct in conducting their services.

All three pleaded innocent Monday. They are free on $100 bond each for trial June 17.

she adores, is perhaps the dominating figure in the story. The circumstances that finally persuade Matthew to part with his farm is the tragic accidental death of his 'youngest son, Rice, and the realization that before long all of his children will be leaving their ancestral lands to find lives and careers elsewhere.

Author Borden Deal is a southerner, born and raised in Mississippi. His first novel, "Walk Through the Valley," was hailed as one of the finest books to come from a southern writer in several years. "Dunbar's Cove" is his second novel. He recently was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship for creative writing.

Golden Fried Chicken Official Father's Day Food, Also Economical

The spirit behind Father's day is as old as mankind itself — originating in the clan practice of paying special homage every year to a leader or patriarch. But the official Father's day we will celebrate June 15, is of a much more recent vintage. It originated in Spokane, Wash., in 1910.

Our modern observance of the idea may not bear much resemblance to that of our remote ancestors, but there is one thing definitely in common about these paternal celebrations — the welcome practice of feasting.

And what could make your family board more festive this year than plentiful platters of golden fried chicken. In addition to being a traditional man-folk favorite, fried chicken is also a cogent choice for the pocketbook. Fried chicken has been designated as the official Father's day dish by the National Father's Day committee.

For informal service the electric frypan does handsome double-duty as a serving dish for this delectable fried chicken dinner. The automatic frypan keeps the chicken piping hot, and is a labor saver into the bargain.

Follow the manufacturer's directions for the operation of your electric frypan. Dad's preference for coating and seasoning, of course, should prevail and will make no difference in the frying technique.

The easy steps to success are: thorough coating of chicken pieces with coating mixture to which seasonings are added; browning in a 4 to 4-inch layer of fat with dial at 360 degrees. Turning to brown all pieces of a light even brown is essential (12 to 15 minutes required). Then reset dial to a low 260 degree and continue cooking until the thickest pieces are fork-tender (20 to 25 minutes).

Occasional turning may be desired, cover frypan after reducing heat to very low. Two or three tablespoons of water should be added before adjusting cover.

Fried chicken goes with almost any food, but you'll find a salad fits the picture particularly well. Try a colorful combination of sliced avocado and spiced prunes with your favorite salad greens.

Golden Fried Chicken, the official Father's day dish this year, is a wise choice for next Sunday's dinner for two reasons. It's a favorite food for most men and chicken is one of the best buys right now from a food budget standpoint.

Combine slices of bananas with wedges of papaya, mango, fresh pineapple, fresh orange sections and sliced strawberries. Sprinkle with fresh lime juice and a few tablespoons cooking sherry. Chill. Serve in sherbet glasses topped with a dab of allspice-tinted sweetened whipped cream.

Basic Recipes

Rhubarb Early Spring Favorite for Sauces, Pies, Tarts, Puddings

Synonymous with spring in many parts of the country is rhubarb—which, though a vegetable, is more readily stewed like a fruit or baked in pies, tarts and puddings.

There should be no confusion, however, in selecting rhubarb, for the story of its freshness is told in its leaves—the larger, crisper, straighter the cherry-red leaves, the fresher the rhubarb.

Here are some basic ways to cook this versatile vegetable with variations.

Basic Recipe

1 pound fresh rhubarb
1 1/2 cups sugar
3/4 cup water

Wash rhubarb, but do not peel, cut into one-inch pieces. Combine sugar and water in a medium-size saucepan, bring to a boil. Lower heat and add rhubarb.

Cook over high heat until the syrup-rhubarb mixture comes to a boil, stirring a few times to mix thoroughly.

Double-Boiler Method

1 pound fresh rhubarb
1 1/2 cups sugar
Wash rhubarb, cut into one-inch pieces, place in top of double boiler. Add sugar and mix well, cover.

Cook over boiling water for 30 minutes or until rhubarb is tender when tested with a fork. Remove to bowl and cool.

Oven Method

1 pound fresh rhubarb
1 1/2 cups sugar
Wash fresh rhubarb, cut into one-inch pieces.

Place in 1 1/2 quart buttered casserole or baking dish, sprinkle with sugar. Cover with tight-fitting lid or aluminum foil.

Bake in slow 300-degree oven for 30 minutes or until tender. Remove to bowl. Cool.

Variations

As soon as rhubarb is cooked, stir in one tablespoon grated lemon rind and dash of ginger or one-fourth teaspoon mace or two to three teaspoons grated orange rind or one teaspoon cinnamon.

Before cooking, add two whole cloves or one stick of cinnamon or dash of nutmeg.

Hot Dog American Summer Favorite

Hot dog or haht dawg!—no matter how you say it, the accent is on the frank. Americans will consume about 2 1/2 billions of its favorite sausage between now and Labor day, the American Meat Institute estimated today.

That means that during the summer months of picnics, backyard cookouts, baseball games and vacations, an average of over 25,000,000 frankfurters a day will be broiled, simmered, roasted, grilled, or otherwise prepared, and served with countless gallons of catsup, mustard, pickles, relish, and other condiments—mostly on a bun, the institute said.

"Even though all meat supplies are down 8 per cent this year as compared with a year ago, our appetite for frankfurters is keeping production up to where it is almost as great as last summer—down only 2 per cent," the institute stated. "If you are average, your share will be about 15 hot dogs this summer. Baseball fans may do better, but the backyard cook is coming up fast."

An Omelet With Strawberries is a novel dessert to dress up and meal. The omelet is the fluffy type which must be eaten as soon as it is prepared.

2 Unusual Desserts

Strawberry Omelet, Cheese Pie Featured Fruit Recipes

BY EDITH M. BARBER

A dessert that may be slightly different from usual is a fruit omelet. This is particularly good with strawberries. It was in Salzburg, Austria, that I first tasted this.

In the height of the strawberry season, after I have had my fill of shortcake, I begin to think of other good desserts—although I am always ready to settle for plain strawberries with sugar and cream.

touch. It really should be prepared between the main course and dessert time, as it needs to be consumed as soon as it is ready. It is worth waiting for, however, as I am sure you will find when you try it.

If you have a freezer or freezing compartment in your refrigerator, you may enjoy the Swedish favorite of frozen unsweetened whipped cream with strawberries. For this, the strawberries are hulled, placed on the serving plate, and sprinkled thickly with granulated sugar. Then the plate is shaken so that every berry is coated with sugar. Then comes the topping of the frozen whipped cream. This is one of my favorite desserts.

The combination of cream cheese with sugar, butter, egg yolks and a very little cream, makes a wonderful filling for a cracker crust. After chilling, the pie should be topped with the strawberries and, if you like, a little currant jelly. The jelly gives a particularly subtle flavor to the pie.

Strawberry Omelet
1 pint strawberries
2 cup sugar, granulated
1 cup sour (salad) cream
1 1/2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
6 egg yolks, well beaten
6 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 cup butter
Confectioners' sugar

Combine strawberries and one-half cup granulated sugar, and mix well. Crush one-half cup strawberry mixture, add sour cream and mix well.

Combine remaining granulated sugar, flour and salt. Add to beaten egg yolks and blend well. Fold flour mixture into stiffly beaten egg mixture. Cook over low heat five minutes.

Bake in moderate 350-degree oven 10 minutes, or until lightly browned and firm. Turn out on serving plate.

Fish Mousse Teams With Lobster Sauce

Here is a Scandinavian baked fish mousse with lobster sauce dish that is especially good for a buffet supper.

Serve it with cucumber relish, parsleyed new potatoes. For dessert, slices of packaged all-butter pound cake is an excellent idea.

Baked Fish Mousse

Melted butter
1 cup packaged dried bread crumbs
1 cup sifted all purpose flour
1 tablespoon potato flour
2 pounds freshly ground raw haddock, pike, or cod
1 pound butter, melted
4 egg yolks, unbeaten
1 tablespoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
2 cups milk
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Heat oven to 350 degrees.
Brush a 9-inch tube pan with melted butter; then coat generally with confectioners' sugar. Serve with strawberry-cream mixture.

Berry-Cheese Pie

2 cups graham cracker crumbs
1 cup melted butter
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup butter
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons heavy cream
1 1/2 pounds cream cheese, softened
1 pt. strawberries
1 cup currant jelly

Combine crumbs, one-half cup melted butter, lemon juice and granulated sugar, and blend well. Press over bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate, and chill.

Combine confectioners' sugar and one-fourth cup butter and beat until smooth. Beat in egg yolks, one at a time, and heavy cream and continue beating until smooth and fluffy. Blend in cream cheese. Place in pie shell and chill for two or three hours. Combine strawberries and jelly and arrange over cheese pie.

Sift together flour and potato flour.

To ground fish in large bowl, add one-half pound butter, melted; with wooden spoon beat vigorously. Then beat in egg yolks. Onto this mixture sprinkle sifted flour mixture, salt, pepper, and allspice; stir in. Gradually add milk, beating thoroughly until well blended. Gently fold in stiffly beaten egg whites until well blended.

Turn mixture into prepared mold; set mold in large pan of boiling water. Bake one hour 10 minutes, or until toothpick inserted in center of mold comes out clean.

If top of mousse gets too brown before baking time is finished, cover with foil.

Remove mold from water; let stand five minutes. With spatula, carefully loosen edges; then unmold carefully onto heated platter. Serve with lobster sauce and lemon wedges.

Lobster Sauce

3 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon white pepper
1/2 cups light cream
1/2 cup milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 1/2 cups cooked or canned lobster, in pieces
1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice

In saucepan over low heat, melt butter. With wooden spoon, blend in flour, sugar, salt, and pepper; remove from heat. Gradually stir in cream, then milk. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until smooth and thickened.

Into egg yolks, stir a little of this mixture; then return all to saucepan, and cook about one minute longer. Add lobster to sauce; heat gently just until lobster is hot. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice. Makes about three cups.

Scrambled Egg Tip

Allow plenty of time when you scramble eggs; low heat helps make them creamy.

Hopper Hordes Raid Wheat in Five States

9 Million Acres in 16 Counties Infested; Bumper Crop Threatened

BY GENE FOSTER

Denver — Eastern Colorado's $110 million bumper wheat crop faces ruin by the state's worst grasshopper invasion in 10 years.

Nearly 9 million acres of rangeland and cropland in 16 counties are already infested. The blight extends into western Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wyoming and Montana.

The crisis is nearing rapidly in Colorado's eastern plains where hungry hoppers already have gorged on 10 per cent of the land's wheat.

"A horde of full-grown hoppers could clear an acre of wheat in 36 minutes," State Agriculture Commissioner Paul W. Swisher said today. "The insects have been working on some of the fields for a week."

"When you figure seven grasshoppers per square yard will eat as much as a cow you can imagine the situation that faces us when we have as many as 400 to the square yard."

Critical Problem

"When you get above seven hoppers per square yard it becomes a critical problem."

Young grasshoppers now number from 50 to 400 to the square yard in Colorado. Soon they will develop wings and begin to migrate.

Officials of the state affected are pressing for swift action, both by the federal government and landowners.

Farmers have been urged to go ahead with spraying programs and not wait for government disaster help.

Experts say that if the hoppers aren't exterminated by mid-June it may be too late to save the crops.

The governors of Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma have asked President Eisenhower for federal funds to help carry out spraying programs. Kansas was advised that the U. S. government will supply one-third of the cost in the form of spraying material. Counties will have to provide the other two-thirds.

Don't Serve Cheese With Apple Pie, Put It in Crust

Instead of topping apple pie with wedges of cheese, why not bake the cheese directly into the pastry? Cheese pastry adds the finishing touch to any favorite apple pie recipe.

Elizabeth Nyholm, University of Illinois foods specialist, gives this easy-to-make recipe:

Just add one-third cup of shredded American cheese for each cup of flour in making the regular pastry. You can cut the cheese into the flour with the shortening. Then finish making the pastry in the usual way.

Cheese pastry is wonderful for peach and rhubarb as well as apple pies.

Frogs Can't Jump; Too Many Hoppers In Their Diet

Cheyenne Wells, Colo. — The hordes of grasshoppers in eastern Colorado have grounded jumping frogs.

Jim Read, Cheyenne county agent, said the frogs have eaten so many of the insects that they can scarcely waddle, let alone jump.

"We can't brag much about our agriculture until we see how this hopper plague turns out," he said. "But we sure can claim the fattest frogs in the country."

Each New Baby Means 23,000 Quarts of Milk

Every baby listed in the birth announcements in today's paper will need over 23,000 quarts of milk. That's the lifetime demand created by every baby born in the United States. It would take the average U. S.

The Urban-Rural Tour of Outagamie county attracted some 100 urban couples and 100 rural couples. Above, Nolan Marien, route 1, Seymour, describes a hay driver at his Five Corners farm to a group of Kaukauna and Little Chute people. Lower, Fred Giesler, with the rake, of the University of Wisconsin department of husbandry, explained the process of barbecuing the ham eaten by the tour people of Seymour Union High school in the evening to, from the left, Mrs. Donald Scheitz and Mrs. Clarence Tubbs, both of Bear Creek; Walter Blake Black Creek, and Clarence Thebo and Donald Schertz, Seymour. ## Restaurants to be Thanked by Bureau During Dairy Month

Wisconsin Farm Bureau members will say "thank you" during June Dairy month to restaurants and hotel dining rooms that do an outstanding job of serving dairy products.

Frank Wing, commodity director for the 30,000 member organization, said the eating places will receive complimentary cards from staff members of Farm Bureau and its affiliated companies, Farmco and Rural Insurance company, as they travel in the state during June.

The card says: "Please accept our compliments on the outstanding way in which you are featuring Wisconsin dairy products." It is signed with the name of Farm Bureau.

To determine which restaurants and dining rooms are entitled to the cards there is a checklist including such questions as: Did the waitress suggest milk with the meal? Was the price of milk included in the meal or extra? Was plenty of butter served? Were Wisconsin natural cheese and other dairy products featured? Was dairy promotion material displayed?

Morgan Farm Plot Displays 22 New Grain Varieties

Chilton — Twenty-two varieties of small grain are being shown this season in a demonstration plot on the Ed Morgan farm located between Kiel and New Holstein, on Highway 57, in Calumet county.

Fourteen varieties of oats, five varieties of barley and three of wheat make up the demonstration plot. All varieties have been labeled so that comparisons may be made. Most types of grains in the parcel are latest introductions.

A field day will be held late in the summer to examine the progress of the varied types according to O. W. Meyer county agent.

Cost Major Factor In Irrigation Choice

Upkeep May Make Plan Too Costly

Farmers were urged this week to figure costs and returns carefully before investing in irrigation.

Velmar Davis, USDA agricultural economist working at the University of Illinois, pointed out that farmers are often impressed with the high yields obtained by irrigating during dry years. But they fail to consider the costs of getting that extra yield.

Irrigation is costly, Davis stated. Success with irrigation requires high-level management and know-how in all practices that affect crop production and operation costs.

3 Cost Types

Davis pointed out that farmers must consider three types of costs. These are the original investment, such as drilling a well or building a reservoir and the pumping and distributing equipment, the annual overhead costs, such as depreciation, interest and taxes, which are about the same no matter how much the system is used, and the annual operating costs, such as fuel labor and repairs, that vary with the amount of use.

Farmers are urged to get an estimate from their dealers on the cost of an irrigation system on their farms. Then they should figure the annual costs of owning and operating it. For a system that costs about $150 an acre to start with, Davis estimates that the annual overhead costs will be about $15.60 or about 10.4 percent of the investment. Operating costs will be about $10.50 to make three 2-inch applications of water. So in this case a farmer would need an extra crop income of $25.10 an acre to recover his irrigation costs.

Davis figures that, if corn is worth $1.20 a bushel, it will take 2 more bushels of corn an acre to break even with this irrigation system. Besides the cost of irrigation, a farmer would have additional costs for fertilizer, seed, harvesting and hauling the extra corn. If corn is worth only $1.00 a bushel, the corn would have to yield 35 bushels more.

When a farmer with irrigation changes his water application rate, he also changes the number of bushels needed to break even. For each additional two inches of water applied, farmers will need about 5 more bushels of corn to cover irrigation operating costs and the increased costs of fertilizer, harvesting and hauling when corn is $1.00 a bushel. 4 bushels more when corn is $1.20 and 3 bushels more when corn is $1.40.

The County Agent Answers

How can spittle bugs be controlled in strawberries?

Spray with a mixture containing Methoxychlor and Malathion. For a complete insect control program, start spraying as the first blossom buds appear and repeat every seven days until the first berries start to form. In one gallon of water add two tablespoons of 50 per cent Methoxychlor two tablespoons or 25 per cent Malathion and four tablespoons of 50 per cent Captan.

Can grain that is seeded down be sprayed for weed control?

Broad-leaved weeds in small grain can be sprayed with 2, 4-D Amine or MCP Amine. Legumes are slightly more tolerant of MCP than 2, 4-D. Spray when the grain is eight to 14 inches high. Use one-fourth pound of acid equivalent material and five or more gallons of water per acre. If the area is not seeded down, the rate can be increased to 1 pound of 2, 4-D Amine per acre.

Can corn be sprayed with 2, 4-D after it has started growth?

2, 4-D Amine can be applied at the rate of one-half pound per acre as a post-emergence treatment for weed control in corn. The corn should be four to eight inches tall. This measurement is taken as the leaf is extended. If the corn is past this stage of growth, it is necessary to use drop nozzles on the sprayer and reduce the amount to one-fourth pound per acre. This treatment will give control for broad-leaved weeds only.

How can cut worms be controlled in corn?

Spray, preferably with drop nozzles, the plants and adjacent soil about six inches on both sides of the row. Use Texaphene, Chlordane, or DDT at two pounds per acre, or Dieldrin at one-half pound per acre.

Does it make any difference during the spring where you hang and air your woollens?

It is best to air your woollen garments prior to when spirea commonly known as bridal wreath, is in bloom. The reason is that there is a black carpet beetle, which lives and thrives on spirea when it is in bloom, will leave its habitat long enough to deposit its eggs on your woollens which you are airing on the clothes line. During the summer months, while the woollens are stored away, the eggs hatch and the larvae eat holes in your woollens.

Can spittle bugs be sprayed for control after the berries form?

It is not recommended to use insecticides on strawberries after the berries are present. Therefore, spittle bug control is not recommended in these stages. Treatment should be started as soon as the first blossom buds appeared in the spring. It is recommended to spray strawberries after the berries form for control of berry molds and berry rots. Use four tablespoons of 50 per cent Captan in one gallon of water.

One Year's Production Of Milk in Quarts Could Make Ladder to Moon

Climbing to the moon on a ladder of milk bottles sounds pretty ridiculous. But if all the milk produced in this country in one year were put into quart bottles and the bottles were stacked one on top of another, the stack would reach more than 9,900,000 miles into the air. It would hit the moon with enough milk left over to have several snacks after you get there.

To look at it another way, those 60 billion quart bottles would reach nearly 140 times around the earth.

Double Milk Tip For Nourishment

Milk beverages can be made more nourishing by adding milk to milk, according to Mrs. Pearl Janssen, University of Illinois foods specialist. "Double milk" is made by adding dry milk to fluid milk in milk beverages. For example, four tablespoons of dry milk added to one cup of fluid milk will make "double milk."

To mix the two forms, start by putting the dry milk on top of the fluid. Then beat with a rotary egg beater or shake in a tightly closed jar or a shaker, or use an electric mixer.

Butter Labels Increase Sales

Survey Reveals Good Results in Controlled Areas

States that followed Wisconsin's lead in requiring the grade labeling of butter increased production and sales in 1957. States that allow butter to be sold without indicating its quality were down in production.

William KasaKaitas, executive secretary of Wisconsin Farm Bureau federation and legislative representative, reported the figures to the 30,000 members of the organization, recalling the 1953 legislative action when Wisconsin became the first major dairy state to require grade labeling.

While several factors account for Wisconsin's steadily increasing butter output — principally the overall rise in milk production — the availability to consumers of butter of an assured quality undoubtedly is helping sell the Wisconsin product, KasaKaitas said.

Undergrade butter, once 25 per cent of the state's production, is now almost non-existent, he said. Consumers who want the highest quality butter can buy AA grade; A and B grades, clearly labeled, also are available.

Only 9 States Wisconsin Farm Bureau members in their 1958 policy resolutions urged nationwide adoption of butter labeling standards. Only nine states have labeling laws and two of these make it voluntary.

Minnesota and Wisconsin, ranking one and two in butter-making, greatly increased production in 1957 over the 1951-55 average, according to U. S. department of agriculture figures. Both states make grade labeling compulsory.

Iowa, which has a voluntary program, lost second place to Wisconsin some years ago and has had less of an increase in production. Illinois, one of 39 states which do not require labeling, has seen its production drop sharply.

Of the seven states with compulsory labeling, six increased their butter production in 1957. The exception was Michigan. Seven of the top 15 butter producing states do not have labeling laws. Only one of these, North Dakota, showed a production increase in 1957.

"The way to keep customers with a quality product," KasaKaitas said, "Butter has some customers to win back as well as new ones to please. The entire dairy industry will gain when butter of an assured high quality is available everywhere in the U. S. as it is in Wisconsin."

No Longer Extraordinary

5,000-Mile Flights at Altitude of 8 Miles Routine to These Fliers

BY VERN HAUGLAND

Loring Air Force Base, Maine — A 5,000-mile night jaunt eight miles above the earth is routine for the men flying the B52 intercontinental bomber—but a new thrill for an outsider.

Lifting some of the secrecy from this giant of the jets, the air force for the first time has permitted a newsman to go along on a B52 training mission.

This one was a 10-hour simulated nuclear bombing run which included radar jamming and refueling.

Ranging a zigzag, roundabout course of 5,000 miles or more, 12 B52s rained make-believe atomic death on successive bombing targets in Richmond, Va., St. Louis, Mo., and St. Paul, Minn.

Launched from this northern Maine base at 10-minute intervals, the big eight-jet Boeing bombers attacked from altitudes of 41,000 to 43,000 feet. Electronic scoring equipment on the ground racked up the devastating accuracy that has become standard with B52s of the strategic air command.

Jamming Radar

The mission also included ECM runs — sorties involving the use of electronic countermeasures to jam the enemy's radar—against air defense command radar stations near Burlington, Vt., Williamsport, Pa., and Kirksville, Mo.

There was a planned attempt by a radar-jamming simulator on the ground at St. Louis to knock out the radar aids which the B52s navigated their way through darkness toward their targets.

The men aboard the B52s matched their wits against this simulator. When they could no longer identify on their radar scopes the landmark along their course, the B52 operators switched to other frequencies. This usually gained them a few seconds in which to pinpoint their location before their sets were jammed again.

In spite of this interference they worked their way in and hit their targets.

The B52s had to get over their targets to release their make-believe bombs. Already in production for delivery later this year is an improved version, the B52G. This can carry in addition to bombs the supersonic, nuclear-armed Hound Dog guided missile which can be fired while still hundreds of miles from the target.

Altitude Refuelings

The final phase of the night-long mission was a series of high altitude refuelings from four KC135 tankers, with three B52s assigned to each tanker. Each bomber was required to take aboard 15 minutes of fuel within a half-hour working period—a difficult task with wind and other conditions making for frequent separations.

Newsman here and at Westover Air Force base, Mass., also were permitted for the first time to watch "cocked" B52s—that is, bombers fully loaded with atomic weapons and fueled and ready for action—take part in practice alerts.

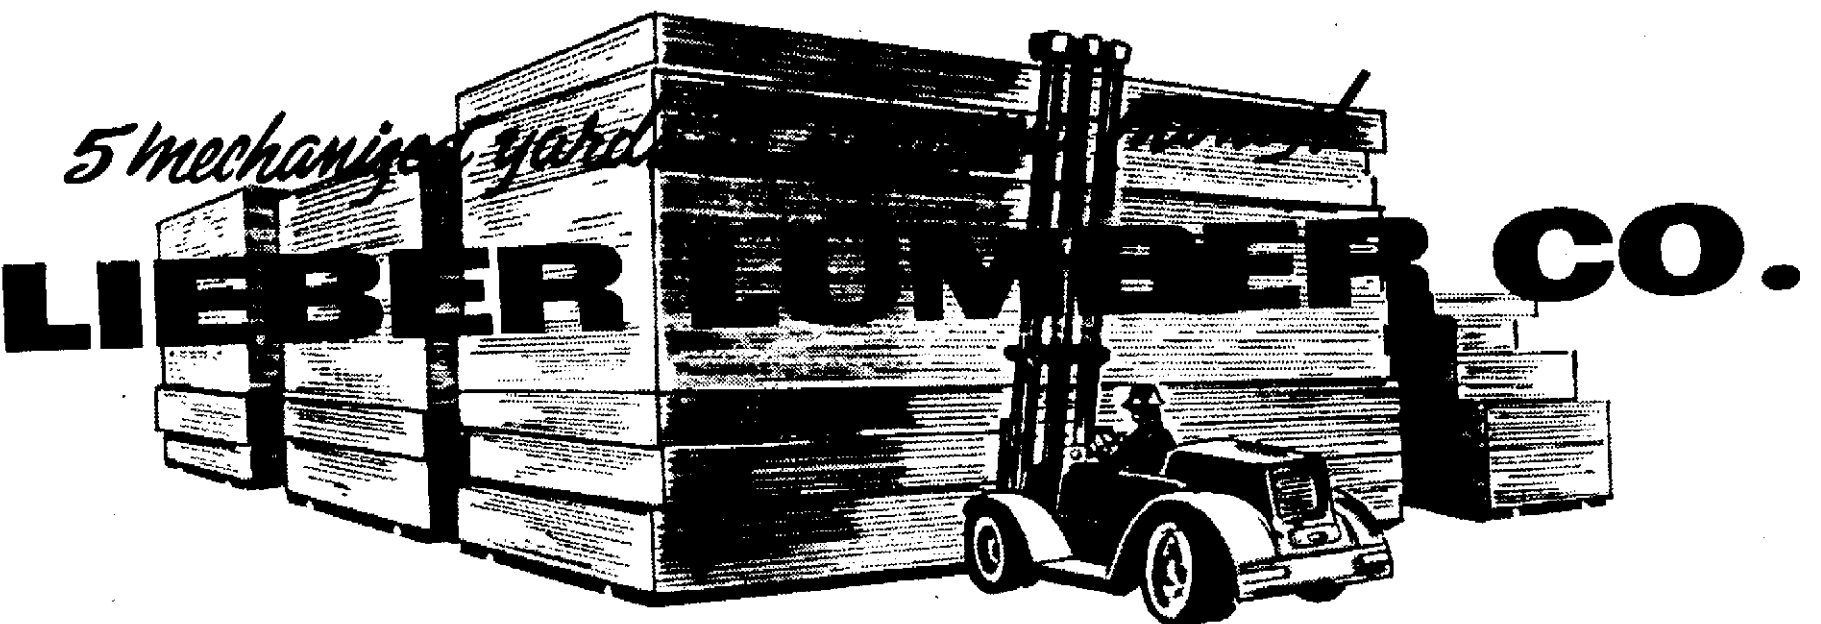

The alert signal might be a siren, a whistle, a red bulb lighting up in the base theater, a gong ringing in the chapel. Whatever it was, it sent the crews on alert duty rushing to their waiting airplanes.

The average time for these cocked bombers, from the instant of the alarm until all eight engines were roaring and ready for taxiing, was eight minutes.
